Khedda-Bella Showdown Looms

Talks To Heal Leadership Split In Algeria Collapse

ALGIERS (AP)—A collapse of talks to heal a leadership split in the new Algerian nation and prospects of a showdown between Premier Ben Youssef ben Khedda and Deputy Premier Ahmed ben Bella produced signs of nervousness here today.

Apparently backed by the bulk of the 45,000-man National Army of Liberation, Ben Bella planned a triumphant advance into western Algeria from Rabat, Morocco, where talks with Ben Khedda's emissaries broke down early today.

A vanguard of 2,000 troops of the liberation army, with Soviet-built artillery, was moving to Oran, in western Algeria, the nation's second largest city. A big victory parade was planned in advance of Ben Bella's arrival there Thursday, apparently to demonstrate his popularity. Then the leader, who advocates a Socialist revolution in Algeria, will address a mass meeting.

Ben Bella, it appeared, counted upon a procession of triumph from his entry at Marnia, his birthplace on the Moroccan border, to Tlemcen, where he planned to stay tonight, and on to Oran and perhaps Algiers.

No new amity talks were scheduled in Rabat.

Ben Khedda's representatives, State Minister Rabah Bitat and Information Minister Mohammed Yazid, said the talks merely were interrupted, but they planned an immediate return to Algiers via Paris.

Ben Bella was described as holding to a hard line against Ben Khedda's reconciliation overtures. He was pictured as confident of the backing of the national liberation army in any showdown with the Algiers regime.

Ben Bella arranged to leave Rabat for the Algerian frontier on his way to Tlemcen, in western Algeria, camp site of the heavily armed troops faithful to him.

Western Algeria prepared a hero's welcome for the radical leftist's return to Algeria for the first time since the North African territory became independent of France eight days ago.

Ben Bella supporters control virtually all of western and eastern Algeria, principally through the 45,000-man national liberation army returning from exile in Tunisia and Morocco.

Ben Khedda's control is limited largely to the Algiers area. Of the six guerrilla zones in Algeria, only one is avowedly supporting Ben Khedda.

Complete System Doubted

U.S. Discounts Russia's Antimissile Rocket Claim

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed U.S. officials believe the Russians still are a long way from achieving a combat ready antimissile-missile system.

They are not disputing that the Russians may have developed an antimissile rocket, as Soviet Premier Khrushchev claimed Tuesday. But they stress that development of such a rocket is only part—and not the most difficult part—of the problem of fashioning a complete antimissile system, with its associated radar and other highly sensitive and complex gear.

One of the biggest problems—as the United States has found in its work with the Nike Zeus antimissile system—is to perfect radar that can discriminate between oncoming warheads and decoys sent out by an enemy to confuse and foil the defenses.

One official familiar with intelligence reports said the Russians have been emplacing large numbers of fairly powerful radar units, but that this radar is believed able to reach no higher than perhaps 100,000 feet and apparently is part of defenses against manned bombers.

He said there is no information here to indicate the Russians have developed an operational warhead, as distinguished from a research and test model.

It is known that the Russians last September exploded high above earth a nuclear test device that had some of the characteristics of an antimissile weapon.

President Kennedy, in a broadcast four months ago, announcing plans to resume U.S. nuclear testing in the atmosphere, said the Soviet test series last fall was aimed, in part, at "improving their defenses against missiles.

But, he added: "While apparently seeking information which is important in developing an antimissile defense system, these tests did not, in our judgment, reflect a developed system."

The information Kennedy said the Russians appeared to be seeking was believed to involve the effects of nuclear blasts on radar and communications.

U.S. scientists were looking for similar information in detonating a hydrogen device more than 200 miles above the Pacific last Sunday night.

Defense Department sources said evaluation of the results of that high altitude shot are not expected for perhaps 48 hours. How much information will be made public is not known.

Total Success Applauded

Europe Cheers American Triumph In Space TV

LONDON (AP)—Europe joined the United States today in cheering the arrival of space-age television.

"A clear triumph for America," headlined London's Daily Herald.

This seemed to sum up what people said on buses, trains and on the subways as they went to work this morning.

"It was a total success," commented the French newspaper L'Aurore.

While applauding the event, the Times said it was not the first direct reception of television from the United States.

The Times said the first reception was by Douglas Walters (call-sign G5CV) in London on Sept. 17, 1930.

Walters received a television picture at his London home. He said he telegraphed first details of what he had seen to New York and received a cable from the General Electric Co. of Schenectady confirming his reception.

He said he learned that the pictures he received was the last of three so-called secret transmissions from New York to a receiving station operated by the German government.

Walters said no picture was seen in Germany — despite the use of elaborate aerials.

His reception was at the time widely reported by the British press.

At breakfast this morning thousands of Britons watched strikingly improved pictures from the satellite.

These were from Telstar's seventh orbit.

Driver Freed In 'Inherited' Parking Case

A man who inherits an auto does not inherit any parking tickets, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ruled, in effect, today in dismissing a charge against an East End man.

The charge against Marion Ferlaino, 2035 Michigan Ave., was dropped by the judge when Ferlaino showed the court his title as proof that he inherited the car in April from the estate of his late mother after the parking tickets had been issued.

The affidavit against Ferlaino was filed by Mrs. Leah P. Kelly, a city "Meter Maid". It alleged Ferlaino had failed to pay a ticket issued last Nov. 10 on Broadway. Six other tickets also were unpaid, the affidavit noted.

Meanwhile, another motorist was fined $20 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a similar charge.

John F. Disch, 750 Minerva St., drew the penalty for failing to settle a ticket issued April 7 in Green Ln. Five other tickets also were outstanding, the affidavit of Mrs. Catherine Martin, "Meter Maid," said.

Disch admitted he probably owed the tickets but argued that proper procedure hadn't been followed in that he didn't receive a summons.

However, Judge Chertoff told the defendant the procedure followed was normal and had Mrs. Martin explain the steps.

Churchill Watches Movies, Reads Papers

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill watched movies from his hospital sickbed Tuesday night and called this morning for the London papers to check the racing news.

The 87-year-old wartime prime minister, whose recovery from a thigh bone fracture has been complicated by a blood clot in the leg, spent a comfortable night, Middlesex Hospital officials said.

U.S. Telstar Triumphs On Pioneering Mission

New Voice, Ears, Eyes For World

American Homes, France, England Receive Pictures

NEW YORK (AP) — Telstar, America's chatterbox new satellite, zoomed through lonely space today on its pioneering mission to bring the world a new voice, ears and eyes.

In triumphant baptism Tuesday night, it sent television pictures spanning the Atlantic to France and England, as well as into U.S. homes. It relayed a telephone call from Maine to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson in Washington as loud and clear as the best of local calls.

Then for an encore, the versatile Telstar—only a yard wide—simultaneously transmitted news stories at a 1,000-word-a-minute clip, relayed photographs perfectly and supplied two-way telephone calls with perfect aplomb from a 3,000-mile height in space.

Remarkably clear television pictures were received in France, and were to be relayed by tape into French homes today.

French television officials planned to beam a return program to the United States late tonight or early Thursday French time, which is six hours ahead of New York in Eastern Standard Time.

A Paris dispatch said this would include a song by Yves Montand, several views of Paris, and a message from Jacques Marette French communications minister.

In Britain, faint and fleeting pictures were picked up as Telstar received, amplified and reradiated the program beamed into space from a powerful horn antenna in the little town of Andover, Maine. The first telecast via space opened with a view of the American flag rippling in the breeze.

British viewers stayed up late for the great event of instantaneous television from abroad, with the brief reward coming after 1 a.m.

Telstar's first feats were a prodigious demonstration of things to come in a future worldwide satellite communications system to meet mounting demands for telephone, news, business, and television circuits spanning oceans and continents.

Praising this joint venture of private industry and government —American Telephone & Telegraph Co. footed the entire $4 million cost of building, launching and tracking Telstar — Newton Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, remarked:

"Now we have increased opportunity to increase the flow of information among all nations, to surmount the walls of ignorance and prejudice and to use mass communications hopefully to avoid mass destruction."

Telstar was designed and built by the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Probe Slated Into Death As Man's Jailed

Autopsy Scheduled When Woman Dies In Knife Assault

WEIRTON — Brooke County authorities have arrested an elderly Weirton man in connection with the apparent fatal stabbing of Mrs. Helen Tusin, 72, also of Weirton.

Police said Rade Dopudja, 71, broke into her home Tuesday afternoon, brandishing a hunting knife.

Mrs. Tusin was stabbed in the right arm. Neighbors said she was seen running screaming from the home and collapsed on the front porch.

It was not learned immediately if Mrs. Tusin died of the stab wound or of a heart attack. An autopsy has been ordered by Brooke County Prosecuting Atty. J. Park McCullen.

Police said the victim's husband, Marko Tusin, 70, suffered minor cuts of the hands when he attempted to disarm Dopudja. A grandson also was in the home at the time, police said.

A murder charge was filed this morning in a Wellsburg squire's court. A preliminary hearing tentatively is set Friday, pending the completion of the autopsy.

Weirton police are in charge of the investigation, aided by the Brooke County sheriff's office.

Mrs. Tusin was pronounced dead on arrival at Weirton General Hospital. Police said the stabbing happened at 1:45. The Tusin home is located in the Brooke County sector of Weirton. A larger part of the city lies in Hancock County.

Neighbors told police that the suspect appeared in an intoxicated condition. Dopudja was arrested twice in 1955 for intoxication, police said.

The suspect lives across the street from the Tusin residence.

In Saskatchewan

Citizens Protest Medicare Plan

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Thousands of citizens from all parts of Saskatchewan converged on this provincial capital today for a demonstration against the government's compulsory medical care plan.

Leaders of the protest move expressed confidence there would be no violence, but some officials indicated concern by issuing appeals for calm and restraint.

Cavalcades were expected from all leading cities and towns. Estimates of the number of persons taking part ran as high as 20,000 to 30,000. They planned to mass before the provincial legislative building to voice opposition to the medicare plan.

The demonstration is sponsored by the Keep Our Doctors Committee, most vocal group backing the doctors strike which began July 1.

A majority of the province's 700 active physicians have joined in the strike against the controversial plan, claiming it opens the door for government control of the medical profession.

The plan, designed to provide medical care for everyone, is financed by single person and family assessments and by general taxation.

Premier Woodrow Lloyd said he would not appear before the demonstrators, but that he would receive a small delegation if they asked to be heard.

Lloyd said he believed he could make "a pretty astute guess" as to what their message would be.

"I don't think the government is going to be influenced by this kind of demonstration," the premier said.

Streets approaching the legislative building were barricaded, but Lloyd said this was only to prevent the area from being congested by automobiles.

Burglars Get $100 In Safe At Wellsville

State Team Awaited To Aid In Probe At Wesco's Office

A large safe at the Wesco Manufacturing Co. on lower Main St., Wellsville, was cracked sometime Tuesday night or early today and a state crime investigating unit has been called in to aid Wellsville police with the investigation.

The exact loss has not been determined, but it is believed that about $100 in cash was in the safe.

Police Chief John Hephner said the burglars "peeled" the heavy door open with bars and a sledge hammer. He said the office has been sealed off until a mobile crime detection unit from the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation arrives from London.

The breaking and entering was discovered early this morning when employes started arriving at the plant for work.

The front door of the plant was pried open which allowed the burglars to enter a hallway along the office. Doors lead off the hallway to the main plant and the office, which is located near the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks.

The office door also was forced open. Hephner commented "it took a lot of work" to get the door of the huge safe open.

He said the office was ransacked and all the contents of the safe were rifled. A cigarette machine also was forced open and an undetermined amount of small change was taken.

Hephner said the office will be checked for finger prints and other clues. The mobile unit is expected about 1 p. m.

India Accuses Red China Of New Invasion

NEW DELHI (AP) — India accused Red China Tuesday night of a new aggressive thrust onto Indian soil in Ladakh and warned Peiping it will be held wholly responsible if a shooting war results.

Prime minister Nehru, from his vacation spot in Pahlgam, Kashmir, dictated the final contents of a protest note handed to the Communist Chinese embassy here.

The note charged nearly 400 Chinese soldiers penetrated the Galwan Valley in the China-Ladakh border area Tuesday and encircled the Indian military post there.

If the Chinese overrun the post, it would make the sixth Red military base, by India's count, set up in the disputed border area since 1960.

A note last Sunday from Peiping to the Indian government charged that the Indians had established a post in the Galwan area to isolate a Chinese post in the lower reaches of the Shyok River.

Child Injured By Car Will Undergo Surgery

A 5-year-old Follansbee boy, struck by an auto near the Free Methodist Campground at Dixonville Tuesday afternoon, was slated for surgery today at Weirton General Hospital.

Joshua Swartz, who was attending the camp with his guardian, Mrs. Charles Anderson of Follansbee, suffered fractures of the left arm and abrasions of the face, right arm and right leg.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the child was walking along Anderson Blvd. near the camp with a group going to the Thompson Park pool when he darted into the path of the auto operated by Robert W. Wolfe, 22, of 317 E. 3rd St. He was treated at City Hospital, then transferred to the Weirton hospital, where he is listed in "satisfactory" condition.

Tax Enactment Set

Midland Borough Council expects to enact a one per cent income tax at its meeting Thursday night and will not delay until July 26, as was announced yesterday, Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary, said today.

Beaver Lets Contract For Work On Airport

BEAVER — Beaver County Commissioners Tuesday awarded a contract for improvements to the Beaver County Airport to Indyk Brothers, Inc. of Houston, Pa., on a low bid of $357,165.67.

The bid was about $23,528 under the estimated cost. The federal government will pay 50 per cent of the cost and the state and the county 25 per cent each. Construction is expected to get under way soon.

Improvements will consist of lengthening the east-west runway 900 feet, extending the runway width to 100 feet, strengthening the runway to accommodate heavy twin - engine and four-engine aircraft, widening existing taxiways to 50 feet and providing additional drainage.

Playwright Dies

PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (AP)—Jules Eckert Goodman, 85, a playwright whose play "The Man Who Came Back" played for eight years on Broadway starting in 1916, died Tuesday. Goodman, who was born in Gervais, Ore., also had been a magazine writer, editor and critic.

And Under Water, Yet!

Baldasare's Successful In English Channel Swim

Fred Baldasare of Cocoa, Fla., near Cape Canaveral, a 38-year-old Wellsville native, made history today by completing an English Channel swim from Calais, France, to Sandwich Bay entirely underwater in skin-diver's gear.

Bruised and weary, Baldasare trudged ashore on the English side 18 hours and one minute after setting off from France guided by a cage 15 feet beneath the surface. The cage was towed by a motorboat and Baldasare — in a frogman's suit — breathed from oxygen bottles.

The distance from Calais to England is 22 miles as the crow flies, but gales and tides carried him far off course. It was estimated he covered twice the distance.

Toward the end he suffered severe buffeting as heavy seas swung the motorboat back and forth, causing the cage to slam him from side to side.

In a seashore interview, Baldasare, a film producer, told newsmen: "I have given up two years of my life to do this and it has cost me $35,000. My life savings are gone."

"Having achieved my ambition, I now want to get back into film producing. I will do documentaries and also hope to direct a drama about underwater channel swimming," he said.

"I'll write the script myself," he added with a wry grin. The English Channel Swimming Association, ruling body on the sport of swimming the famous body of water, said Baldasare will be given a certificate stating he has swum the channel, being submerged the entire time.

It was his second attempt, as he set out Monday but was forced to give up soon after entering the water by bad weather. Two English swimmers also were forced

A murder charge was filed this morning in a Wellsburg squire's court. A preliminary hearing tentatively is set Friday, pending the completion of the autopsy.

Weirton police are in charge of the investigation, aided by the Brooke County sheriff's office.

Mrs. Tusin was pronounced dead on arrival at Weirton General Hospital. Police said the stabbing happened at 1:45. The Tusin home is located in the Brooke County sector of Weirton. A larger part of the city lies in Hancock County.

Neighbors told police that the suspect appeared in an intoxicated condition. Dopudja was arrested twice in 1955 for intoxication, police said.

The suspect lives across the street from the Tusin residence.

Citizens Protest Medicare Plan

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Thousands of citizens from all parts of Saskatchewan converged on this provincial capital today for a demonstration against the government's compulsory medical care plan.

Leaders of the protest move expressed confidence there would be no violence, but some officials indicated concern by issuing appeals for calm and restraint.

Cavalcades were expected from all leading cities and towns. Estimates of the number of persons taking part ran as high as 20,000 to 30,000. They planned to mass before the provincial legislative building to voice opposition to the medicare plan.

The demonstration is sponsored by the Keep Our Doctors Committee, most vocal group backing the doctors strike which began July 1.

A majority of the province's 700 active physicians have joined in the strike against the controversial plan, claiming it opens the door for government control of the medical profession.

The plan, designed to provide medical care for everyone, is financed by single person and family assessments and by general taxation.

Premier Woodrow Lloyd said he would not appear before the demonstrators, but that he would receive a small delegation if they asked to be heard.

Lloyd said he believed he could make "a pretty astute guess" as to what their message would be.

"I don't think the government is going to be influenced by this kind of demonstration," the premier said.

Streets approaching the legislative building were barricaded, but Lloyd said this was only to prevent the area from being congested by automobiles.

And Under Water, Yet!

Baldasare's Successful In English Channel Swim

Fred Baldasare of Cocoa, Fla., near Cape Canaveral, a 38-year-old Wellsville native, made history today by completing an English Channel swim from Calais, France, to Sandwich Bay entirely underwater in skin-diver's gear.

Bruised and weary, Baldasare trudged ashore on the English side 18 hours and one minute after setting off from France guided by a cage 15 feet beneath the surface. The cage was towed by a motorboat and Baldasare — in a frogman's suit — breathed from oxygen bottles.

The distance from Calais to England is 22 miles as the crow flies, but gales and tides carried him far off course. It was estimated he covered twice the distance.

Toward the end he suffered severe buffeting as heavy seas swung the motorboat back and forth, causing the cage to slam him from side to side.

In a seashore interview, Baldasare, a film producer, told newsmen: "I have given up two years of my life to do this and it has cost me $35,000. My life savings are gone."

"Having achieved my ambition, I now want to get back into film producing. I will do documentaries and also hope to direct a drama about underwater channel swimming," he said.

"I'll write the script myself," he added with a wry grin. The English Channel Swimming Association, ruling body on the sport of swimming the famous body of water, said Baldasare will be given a certificate stating he has swum the channel, being submerged the entire time.

It was his second attempt, as he set out Monday but was forced to give up soon after entering the water by bad weather. Two English swimmers also were forced

Burglars Get $100 In Safe At Wellsville

State Team Awaited To Aid In Probe At Wesco's Office

A large safe at the Wesco Manufacturing Co. on lower Main St., Wellsville, was cracked sometime Tuesday night or early today and a state crime investigating unit has been called in to aid Wellsville police with the investigation.

The exact loss has not been determined, but it is believed that about $100 in cash was in the safe.

Police Chief John Hephner said the burglars "peeled" the heavy door open with bars and a sledge hammer. He said the office has been sealed off until a mobile crime detection unit from the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation arrives from London.

The breaking and entering was discovered early this morning when employes started arriving at the plant for work.

The front door of the plant was pried open which allowed the burglars to enter a hallway along the office. Doors lead off the hallway to the main plant and the office, which is located near the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks.

The office door also was forced open. Hephner commented "it took a lot of work" to get the door of the huge safe open.

He said the office was ransacked and all the contents of the safe were rifled. A cigarette machine also was forced open and an undetermined amount of small change was taken.

Hephner said the office will be checked for finger prints and other clues. The mobile unit is expected about 1 p. m.

Grant Slated For Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A federal grant of $98,700 toward the city's planned enlargement and addition of the present sewage treatment plant has been given a top priority for the current fiscal year, the Ohio Department of Health at Columbus announced today.

The grant would be used for the $331,580 project, which calls for improvement of the present plant and an addition on a 1.75 acre tract adjacent to the present facility near the City Park.

Priorities are for the year which began July 1. Actual grants will be made by the U. S. Public Health Department.

While Congress has not yet appropriated funds for this year's grants, it adopted authorizations last year, and if followed, would be sufficient to cover all Ohio requests approved by the Water Pollution Control board.

The city already has increased sewer rates from $12 to $24 yearly to help pay for the project, and a mortgage revenue bond issue is planned.

The Floyd Browne Associates of Marion is the engineering firm in charge. The present plant, built in 1937, has been termed inadequate for the city's present and future needs.

Business Due $1 Billion Tax Cut Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The business community will get a billion-dollar tax cut Thursday when the Treasury puts into effect liberalized guidelines for the depreciation of investments in plant and equipment.

The new guides, the product of efforts which began during the Eisenhower administration and were accelerated a year ago, will be announced tonight.

In essence, they will reduce the length of time during which businesses can claim tax deductions to cover their capital investments. The guides now in force were established 20 years ago and have long been considered obsolete.

Under the old system, businesses had to decide the useful life of each individual type of equipment or property in figuring annual depreciation deductions. The new system will lay down an average useful life for all the kinds of plant and equipment used in each industry. This should spare businessmen considerable bookkeeping and make it easier for the Internal Revenue Service to administer the tax laws.

Drivers Cited On 2 Crashes

A city trucker whose rig overturned at Cannons Mills and a Salineville man involved in a collision on Route 30 Tuesday were cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Lester Bratt, 44, of 927 Orchard Grove Ave. was charged with driving left of center after his tractor - trailer rig, loaded with steel, overturned on Route 30 at Cannons Mills about noon yesterday.

Officers said Bratt's rig went off the roadway and as it returned the trailer whipped around and the rig upset on its top.

Bratt, a truck driver for 28 years, was acquitted by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning after testimony from the trucker and State Highway Patrolman E. D. Wain.

Wain testified he did not witness the accident, which occurred on the second curve south of the Cannons Mill - Calcutta Rd., but said his investigation showed the tractor - trailer went six feet off the right berm and then back on the roadway before upsetting.

Bratt told the court he swung to the right as far as possible to avoid a northbound woman driver whose car was straddling the center line.

"The court believes the defendant's story. I have long held that because there's an accident it does not necessarily follow that there's a violation," Judge Chertoff commented in dismissing the charge.

Emerson L. Barnes Jr., 20, of 161 E. Main St., Salineville, was charged with unsafe operation after his car and one operated by Tony Pezzano, 26, of 217 E. Washington St., Lisbon, collided on Route 30 northeast of Salineville about 8:10 p. m.

The patrol said Barnes attempted to make a turn, going to the left side of the road, then returned to the right lane, where the crash took place. No one was injured, officers said.

$4 Million Is Spent On Telstar By AT&T

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. spent $4 million to put the Telstar satellite into working orbit.

So Tuesday night when a vice president picked up a telephone to place a call via the satellite, a Bell telephone operator cooly suggested: "Deposit four million dollars, please."

Ultimately, telephone calls to foreign lands via communications satellites will probably cost less for three minutes, officials predict, than present tolls—$12.50 for three minutes—to European cities via submarine cables.

22,000 Visit Palestine City Pool During June

EAST PALESTINE — A total of 22,000 visited the City Park Pool during June, a probable record, Baird Stewart, park director, reported at a meeting of the Park Commission Tuesday night.

Life guards made 11 assists to swimmers in distress, he added. Classes for swimming instruction in junior and senior Red Cross programs are being organized.

Drivers Cited On 2 Crashes

A city trucker whose rig overturned at Cannons Mills and a Salineville man involved in a collision on Route 30 Tuesday were cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Lester Bratt, 44, of 927 Orchard Grove Ave. was charged with driving left of center after his tractor - trailer rig, loaded with steel, overturned on Route 30 at Cannons Mills about noon yesterday.

Officers said Bratt's rig went off the roadway and as it returned the trailer whipped around and the rig upset on its top.

Bratt, a truck driver for 28 years, was acquitted by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning after testimony from the trucker and State Highway Patrolman E. D. Wain.

Wain testified he did not witness the accident, which occurred on the second curve south of the Cannons Mill - Calcutta Rd., but said his investigation showed the tractor - trailer went six feet off the right berm and then back on the roadway before upsetting.

Bratt told the court he swung to the right as far as possible to avoid a northbound woman driver whose car was straddling the center line.

"The court believes the defendant's story. I have long held that because there's an accident it does not necessarily follow that there's a violation," Judge Chertoff commented in dismissing the charge.

Emerson L. Barnes Jr., 20, of 161 E. Main St., Salineville, was charged with unsafe operation after his car and one operated by Tony Pezzano, 26, of 217 E. Washington St., Lisbon, collided on Route 30 northeast of Salineville about 8:10 p. m.

The patrol said Barnes attempted to make a turn, going to the left side of the road, then returned to the right lane, where the crash took place. No one was injured, officers said.

$4 Million Is Spent On Telstar By AT&T

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. spent $4 million to put the Telstar satellite into working orbit.

So Tuesday night when a vice president picked up a telephone to place a call via the satellite, a Bell telephone operator cooly suggested: "Deposit four million dollars, please."

Ultimately, telephone calls to foreign lands via communications satellites will probably cost less for three minutes, officials predict, than present tolls—$12.50 for three minutes—to European cities via submarine cables.

They've Installed A Sky Hook

Not everything about the communication satellite lofted into orbit by Bell Laboratories with the paid assistance of National Aeronautics and Space Administration is plus.

We shudder at even quicker communication of some of the second-rate TV programs that give Britons and other people abroad wrong impressions of this country. We churn at the weird anticapitalist notions some two-bit politicians have been nursing about moving into the communications business on the pretext that a communications satellite can't be trusted to private enterprise.

But everything else about the accomplishment is spine-tingling.

ELECTRONICS engineers have installed a sky hook. Many of us dreamed about sky hooks when we were kids, and kids who grew up to be engineers had nightmares because they knew by that time there never could be such a thing.

But never is a long time in modern science.

Isaac Newton made sky hooks possible by figuring out how much thrust would be required to overcome the pull of gravity —the same formula now used to put satellites in orbit. The information lay useless from the latter half of the 17th century until the latter half of the 20th century because no one knewhow to develop enough thrust to throw an object beyond gravity's pull and give it enough momentum to keep it in motion around the earth.

Rockets then made sky hooks possible.

Communications sky hooks are going to open the way to further miracles.

With communications satellites "hung" in space, men can be in continuous communication with one another from all parts of the earth. They will be free of the limitations of cables and straight-line electronic communication.

THE SATELLITES will make it possible to beam messages upward to them, then back at a different angle to another point on the earth's surface. It will be as if men could build relay towers from 4,000 to 7,000 miles high. As a matter of interest, if a communications satellite could be placed in orbit 22,300 miles high it would appear to stay in one place in the sky — but that will have to wait on better ways to shoot electronic signals that far and get them back without fading and distortion.

This "miracle" has been a long time in the making and is the culmination of endless thought and work, starting with Sir Isaac Newton, but that takes nothing away from it in its first stage and will take nothing away from it 10 years from now when people will be communicating "via sky hook" as routinely as they now use a thousand other marvels of electronics without giving them a second thought.

Let's forget the junk that's communicated and the mischief that bubbles in the minds of politicians and admit it feels good to belong to the side that did something first.

'They Do Protest Too Much'

It is a curious thing about nuclear explosion protesters that they claim they are as put out by Russian explosions as by American explosions yet are unable to do anything about their indignation when it's directed at Russia.

If they put on a demonstration in front of a Russian embassy, for example, they might as well put it on in front of a tree. They command no attention. They get no reaction. No one takes their pictures for publication in Russian papers.

There are no eager young capitalist goon squads ready to throw rocks, or to lie down so the police will drag them away. There aren't any bearded boy students and frowsy girl students eager to walk the soles off their shoes in picket lines.

Even if there were, the effect on the government of Russia would be no greater than the effect on the people of Russia, who wouldn't hear about it. As for the possibility that someone might stage a demonstration against Russian atom bomb testing in Moscow itself, perhaps in front of the main gate to the Kremlin, it's out of the question —too fantastic.

People don't do such things in Moscow.

Even outside the Soviet Union, staging protests against Russian policy would do no more good than picketing the weather. Only against the impressionable U.S. government and only against the highly sensitive American people is it worth anyone's time to put on a show.

It is happening again in the wake of the Pacific nuclear tests. The show is going on.

The protesters are hoisting their signs and marching with new vigor, to the delight of the Communist dictatorship of Russia, which also feels indignant about all nuclear testing done by any nation except the one it owns and operates.

Who Understands The Stock Market?

If reducing the margin requirement for stock market purchasing could invigorate the entire economy, that would be as astounding as stopping a nervous breakdown by sipping cold water.

Stock market speculators will feel better if they can put down half the price of a purchase and pay the other half later. It makes an easier, looser game than putting up 70 per cent and leaving only 30 per cent hanging for the future.

Perhaps they will feel so good they will infect others with their good feeling and take some heat off the government for what some people are calling a setback and others are referring to as an adjustment.

In the long view the change in margin requirements will be of no more consequence than an aspirin tablet taken during an attack of flu. At best it can be no better than a palliative. At worst it can be no worse than a gesture.

If one thing can be said against it, the flaw is the misconception it will give rise to among those who expect too much. When nothing happens they will be overpessimistic in the same degree that they were over-optimistic.

That is the characteristic of stock-market reaction—that it fluctuates widely. Some have compared it unkindly with the reaction of a flock of scared chickens, but a more accurate comparison would be with a flock of frantic sheep. Chickens never follow a leader; sheep always do.

The reactions of neither can be foretold with accuracy, however, and this is equally true of stock market reactions. Among the few people alive who claim to know something about them there is no agreement. Reducing the margin requirement from 70 to 50 per cent will make speculators feel better, but no one knows for how long or to what avail.

Vive La France

By Truman Twill

Three experts took care of our vacation inspections in Paris and Britain. This is to acknowledge our gratitude.

Two of the three were our older son and his wife, who have lived in England since last September. The other was Jacques Tharaldsen, who took charge of us in Paris.

All three were so well-versed in the background of what we saw that our conversations frequently concerned what we were thinking more than what we were seeing. We were especially impressed with M. Tharaldsen's flair for putting meaning into sightseeing.

He loves his native Paris. He hopes always to be able to live in it. Everything about his wonderful city prompts him to bring forth more passages of history to explain its origins and developments. He made us understand what motivates Frenchmen like him — and we hope there may be upward of 70 million.

We saw soldiers with guns at the ready in Paris. Gendarmes walked in twos and threes to discourage attack by fanatics. Inflammatory signs were painted on walls. It took M. Tharaldsen's explanation that irreconcilability over Algeria was as hard to deal with as it had been in our own Civil War to put things into perspective.

His thoughtful explanations about Napoleon answered our questions about the unusual authority given to President Charles de Gaulle. France is striving to restore itself to major-power status. Frenchmen never will forget Napoleon.

Air France, M. Tharaldsen's employer, boasts it is the "world's largest airline," meaning it covers the greatest distances of all the flag lines that now lace this shrinking globe in a network of aviation services. France is making a larger place for itself than it was consigned to when it collapsed under the Nazi blitzkrieg in 1940.

Everybody admires Paris as a rare urban flower of civilization — a shimmer of loveliness and laughter that has bedazzled men for centuries. Everybody knows what happens when the boys see Paree—whee and gee!

But now, thanks to M. Tharaldsen, we know what goes on beneath the shimmer. Paris is the dynamo for a new France led by the stubborn general who refused to go to pieces under the blitzkrieg.

French school children were visiting Versailles the day we were there. They were as goggle-eyed as we were at what the revolutionists left of this incredible monument to the extravagance of Louis XIV, the great king who had to build everything kingsize to take care of the huge court that kept him in power. Frenchmen are as proud of what his extravagances did for their culture as they are of what Napoleon's excesses did for French militarism. But these things are past and gone.

Today it's nuclear fission, a stable currency, high employment in a booming industrial economy, great international organizations like Air France and earnest young men like our friend Tharaldsen who matter —these things and the unquenchable French passion for individual liberty. They are all that matter now.

M. Tharaldsen said when we parted, "I don't see how anyone could have been shown more than you've seen in the short time you were here."

Only because we saw it through your understanding eyes, monsieur, and learned about it through your understanding heart. Thank you and the great airline that made it possible for us to be your friends.

From now on "Vive la France!" for us will have double meaning.

A Dream Walking

Wall Fails To Hinder Berlin

By Willy Brandt

Victor Riesel, enroute to Europe for material for future columns, has invited a number of prominent persons to be his "guest columnists" until he resumes his daily writings. Today's "guest" is the mayor of West Berlin.

There are many reasons why the Communists last August sealed off East Berlin with a wall of barbed wire and concrete blocks, making a vast prison camp of East Berlin and the Soviet Zone of Germany. Among these reasons, perhaps the most important of all, was to put an end to the mass exodus of young people and skilled workers, the lifeblood of a country's economy.

Many people are aware of the fact that three million persons escaped from Communist West terror in the so-called German Democratic Republic before the Wall went up. But what is sometimes forgotten is that fully half of these were under 25 years of age! And one-third of them were skilled workers!

THIS FLIGHT of youth and skilled workers is irrefutable proof of the ultimate bankruptcy of Communism, not only politically but economically as well.

After all, Communism is portrayed by its proponents as the paradise of the worker. The lesson of Berlin is that whenever the worker is given a free choice, he will choose freedom.

The same can be said of youth. It appears that no amount of brainwashing can remove the drive for freedom among young people. One should not forget that these young people of East Germany never knew freedom until they crossed the sector border into West Berlin.

For nearly 30 years, the people of the Soviet Zone have lived in slavery first under the Nazis, then under the Communists. The bray of radio propaganda and the screams of the giant slogans across the roads could not lessen the magnetic pull of freedom.

We in West Berlin are proud of our city's role as a magnet, proud of the fact that more than any other people, we stand as a living symbol for freedom. This doesn't mean that the Wall does not make us sad; of course it does. But still we believe that the day will come when there no longer will be a wall, when there will be a single, unified Berlin within the framework of a single, unified Germany.

IN WORKING toward that day, our job in Berlin is to preserve our freedom, expand our economy and continue to develop our city as an attractive place in which to live and work and as a home for the arts and sciences. When the Communists put up the Wall of Shame on Aug. 13, 1961, they fell prey to the illusion that this would bring about the downfall of our city. They were mistaken, as they have been so often in the past.

Although the Wall did close off the escape route to freedom for millions of people, it could not undermine confidence in the future of the city. Industrial orders received by West Berlin, still the largest industrial city between Paris and Moscow, have not declined.

More money is going into savings accounts than is being withdrawn. Savings on deposit in November 1960 totaled $442 million, but by November 1961 they had climbed to $490 million.

MANY THOUSANDS of skilled workers from West Gemany have applied for jobs in West Berlin; some 7,000 already have found permanent positions. For several months now, more people have come to West Berlin than have left.

This fact is most significant.

When the Wall went up, the West Berlin labor market lost more than 60,000 wage earners. This represents the number of East German "border crossers" who, until Aug. 13, 1961, passed the sector borders each day from East Berlin and neighboring areas of East Germany to work in West Berlin.

Because of an increase in efficiency and productivity and because of the flow of workers from West Germany, industrial output has continued to increase, even after Aug. 13, 1961.

For instance, in April 1962, production in the processing industries was up 3.4 per cent over the same month in 1961. During the same period, production of consumer goods rose 6.6 per cent. In the year the Wall went up, 1961, capital spending in West Berlin increased 10.9 per cent over pre-Wall 1960.

ALL THIS points up a degree of confidence in the economic viability of West Berlin that must have confounded Premier Khrushchev and his agents in East Germany. Not only are more workers coming, but they are showing that they mean to stay. Our population is actually increasing.

And so many young people in West Berlin have decided to start families that license bureaus have to handle long waiting lines for marriage applications.

This confidence in West Berlin is being demonstrated not only by the young and adventurous but also by the seasoned and cautious.

More and more hard-headed American businessmen are opening up enterprises in West Berlin. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith opened a branch office in Berlin after the Wall was built.

Yale & Towne recently announced it will open a plant in Berlin; other American firms are expected to follow suit.

OUR WESTERN allies, notably the United States, along with the government of West Germany have been helping not only with words but with deeds. Shortly after Aug. 13, 1961, the government in Bonn set aside about $125 million to help us speed our long-range planning and to provide vacation money for every West Berliner.

Beginning July 1, the federal government is providing tax benefits and capital credits on a wider scale to boost West Berlin as an attractive place to work and to locate new industries.

Our government in West Berlin is equally confident. We recently voted $76 million to expand transportation, recreation and cultural facilities in 1963 — an increase of $6 million over the sum planned for 1962.

The point is clear and basic. We believe in ourselves; we believe in our government in Bonn; we believe in the Western alliance, particularly the United States.

It is the Truth that makes man free. But the Wall is physical proof of a Lie. It proves the claim that Communism is a workers' paradise is false. And history has proved that a Lie can never destroy the Truth.

The World Challenge

By David Lawrence

Economic Future Reveals High Promise

GENEVA

There's a curious assumption prevalent at the conference of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations which has just opened here. It is that peace lies ahead. Nobody doubts the possibility of war, but almost everybody discounts the probability.

David Lawrence

Planning, therefore, becomes ambitious. The "Development Decade" in the world, which is the theme of discussion here, involves a global concept of such challenging scope that it defies the imagination.

The talk, of course, is of the help that the "better developed" countries can give to the "underdeveloped." But, as has often been pointed out, even some of the larger countries like the United States don't concede that they have reached the top stage of their development.

Likewise, these so-called "underdeveloped" areas do not all need the same kind of aid or technical assistance, since their resources and aptitudes differ.

THE WORD that Paul Hoffman, managing director of the United Nations Special Fund, uses to describe the task tactfully is "modernization."

But in taking a look around the world, some practicalities come in conflict with mere theory.

Where is the money to come from? The plans of the specialized U.N. agencies in the fields of economic and scientific and social development — which are together beginning a month's intensive study here of these phases — cannot be fulfilled unless the financial sinews are available. The main answer is that money will come largely from "soft" loans — long-term and at low interest — and from "hard" loans that are backed by ample security.

To supplement this, governments and peoples will make outright contributions, especially in furnishing funds for technical aid and assistance in the social and economic fields.

One is impressed not only by the enormity of the undertaking, but by the lack of knowledge within most countries as to how they really can be helped and what can be done to promote natural and normal trade and production.

Nearly every country has resources to develop and a rapidly growing population to think about — its potential demand for goods and services, and the training needed to build some sort of sustaining economy.

There is no harm in abstract thinking or in objective discussions. It is, in fact, reassuring to find the world turning from talk about fallout shelters and possible devastation by nuclear war, to economic studies and discussions about how to make the different countries of the world more productive of goods and services. This is a healthy turn.

THERE IS A TENDENCY, of course, to think in terms of continents. President Kennedy mentioned this in his 4th of July address. Much stress is laid upon it in the discussions here. But as one observer pointed out, geography unfortunately doesn't solve the problem.

Some countries within one continent do not have the same requirement as others, and there may be more in common between nations in Africa which have reached a certain stage of development and certain states in Central America, than between the larger and smaller countries in each continent.

It is the stage of evolution, rather than the location of the countries, that becomes germane to any over-all plan of organized assistance.

The need for economic help nearly everywhere is conceded. Acting Secretary - General U Thant said this week to the meeting of the U.N.'s Economic and Social Council:

"The United Nations development decade is an appeal to our faith in the preservation and in the continuation of economic and social progress by investing in the younger generations who, in addition to education and training, require help to fight malnutrition and disease.

"Together with investment in industry, large and small, in natural resources and in transport, investment in less - developed countries during the decade must provide for the construction of more than 20 million dwellings in less-developed areas and for an increase in food supplies of 50 per cent.

"In those same countries, expenditure for public health services must double over the period, and expenditure on education must rise to an annual rate of 4 per cent of the national product by the end of the decade.

"All this in order to meet minimum requirements so interrelated that failure to reach one target in time may jeopardize advances on all other fronts."

WHILE THE CONTINUANCE of suffering and poverty is deplorable, it is an open question whether mere grants of charity will do the job when what really is needed is the training and education of the persons with the best brains in every country, so that there can slowly but surely be brought into being systems of domestic development and production of goods and services suitable for each people's needs.

There has been a considerable emphasis here on the importance of making each country eventually self-reliant.

The subject is so far-reaching that, after listening to the generalities of it for several days, one is impressed not only with the challenge of the task but the opportunities for bilateral and multilateral trade in the world. That's why the European Common Market idea has caught the imagination of people everywhere. For it is based on the conviction that there is a way for countries to trade with one another fairly and profitably and thus to continue to live with each other peaceably, even in a nuclear age.

Rayburn-McCormack

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

None of the luster has been rubbed off the memory of Sam Rayburn by his successor as speaker of the House, lanky John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

The 70-year-old New Englander is a pale figure compared with Rayburn, a Texan who, when he died last year at 79, had become the patriarch of the House Democrats.

Rayburn became speaker in 1940. Between then and the time he died McCormack had been his right-hand man as majority leader or Democratic whip.

Rayburn went home sick in 1961 before the Democratic-run House had finished its work for the year, leaving McCormack in charge. When the session was over McCormack spoke proudly of its record.

He can't do the same so far this year, although he has been top man from the beginning and Democrats heavily outnumber Republicans.

McCormack may get an "A" for trying but not for performance.

The simple fact is he was never as colorful as Rayburn, isn't now, and probably couldn't be or want to try to be. He has none of Rayburn's dramatics or his sense of dramatics.

What counts more—politically—is what kind of captain, soothsayer, and magician has he been in getting his Democratic administration's programs through?

He hasn't been particularly distinguished in any of those three categories. Take the soothsayer's role first.

Relations between House and Senate are not as good as when Rayburn was speaker and fellow Texan Lyndon B. Johnson, now vice president, was Senate Democratic leader. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana is Johnson's successor.

Twice within a year the House, with McCormack in charge, has offended the Senate. At the end of last year, at the very end, the House passed an appropriations bill, sent it to the Senate on a take-it-or-leave-it basis and quit for 1961.

Mansfield didn't mention McCormack by name (he didn't have to) when he told his fellow-senators: "It is outrageous. We have to swallow it. But I think it is a poor sign of the comity which should exist between the two bodies."

The senators could, and did, take this as meaning they were being called wasteful spenders. Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Pa., called it "deliberately insulting."

Rayburn had worked hard to keep relations between the two bodies cool. If he had been around he might have been able to prevent both pokes in the Senate's eye.

With communications satellites "hung" in space, men can be in continuous communication with one another from all parts of the earth. They will be free of the limitations of cables and straight-line electronic communication.

THE SATELLITES will make it possible to beam messages upward to them, then back at a different angle to another point on the earth's surface. It will be as if men could build relay towers from 4,000 to 7,000 miles high. As a matter of interest, if a communications satellite could be placed in orbit 22,300 miles high it would appear to stay in one place in the sky — but that will have to wait on better ways to shoot electronic signals that far and get them back without fading and distortion.

This "miracle" has been a long time in the making and is the culmination of endless thought and work, starting with Sir Isaac Newton, but that takes nothing away from it in its first stage and will take nothing away from it 10 years from now when people will be communicating "via sky hook" as routinely as they now use a thousand other marvels of electronics without giving them a second thought.

Let's forget the junk that's communicated and the mischief that bubbles in the minds of politicians and admit it feels good to belong to the side that did something first.

'They Do Protest Too Much'

It is a curious thing about nuclear explosion protesters that they claim they are as put out by Russian explosions as by American explosions yet are unable to do anything about their indignation when it's directed at Russia.

If they put on a demonstration in front of a Russian embassy, for example, they might as well put it on in front of a tree. They command no attention. They get no reaction. No one takes their pictures for publication in Russian papers.

There are no eager young capitalist goon squads ready to throw rocks, or to lie down so the police will drag them away. There aren't any bearded boy students and frowsy girl students eager to walk the soles off their shoes in picket lines.

Even if there were, the effect on the government of Russia would be no greater than the effect on the people of Russia, who wouldn't hear about it. As for the possibility that someone might stage a demonstration against Russian atom bomb testing in Moscow itself, perhaps in front of the main gate to the Kremlin, it's out of the question —too fantestic.

People don't do such things in Moscow.

Even outside the Soviet Union, staging protests against Russian policy would do no more good than picketing the weather. Only against the impressionable U.S. government and only against the highly sensitive American people is it worth anyone's time to put on a show.

It is happening again in the wake of the Pacific nuclear tests. The show is going on.

The protesters are hoisting their signs and marching with new vigor, to the delight of the Communist dictatorship of Russia, which also feels indignant about all nuclear testing done by any nation except the one it owns and operates.

Who Understands The Stock Market?

If reducing the margin requirement for stock market purchasing could invigorate the entire economy, that would be as astounding as stopping a nervous breakdown by sipping cold water.

Stock market speculators will feel better if they can put down half the price of a purchase and pay the other half later. It makes an easier, looser game than putting up 70 per cent and leaving only 30 per cent hanging for the future.

Perhaps they will feel so good they will infect others with their good feeling and take some heat off the government for what some people are calling a setback and others are referring to as an adjustment.

In the long view the change in margin requirements will be of no more consequence than an aspirin tablet taken during an attack of flu. At best it can be no better than a palliative. At worst it can be no worse than a gesture.

If one thing can be said against it, the flaw is the misconception it will give rise to among those who expect too much. When nothing happens they will be overpessimistic in the same degree that they were over-optimistic.

That is the characteristic of stock-market reaction—that it fluctuates widely. Some have compared it unkindly with the reaction of a flock of scared chickens, but a more accurate comparison would be with a flock of frantic sheep. Chickens never follow a leader; sheep always do.

The reactions of neither can be foretold with accuracy, however, and this is equally true of stock market reactions. Among the few people alive who claim to know something about them there is no agreement. Reducing the margin requirement from 70 to 50 per cent will make speculators feel better, but no one knows for how long or to what avail.

Vive La France

By Truman Twill

Three experts took care of our vacation inspections in Paris and Britain. This is to acknowledge our gratitude.

Two of the three were our older son and his wife, who have lived in England since last September. The other was Jacques Tharaldsen, who took charge of us in Paris.

All three were so well-versed in the background of what we saw that our conversations frequently concerned what we were thinking more than what we were seeing. We were especially impressed with M. Tharaldsen's flair for putting meaning into sightseeing.

He loves his native Paris. He hopes always to be able to live in it. Everything about his wonderful city prompts him to bring forth more passages of history to explain its origins and developments. He made us understand what motivates Frenchmen like him — and we hope there may be upward of 70 million.

We saw soldiers with guns at the ready in Paris. Gendarmes walked in twos and threes to discourage attack by fanatics. Inflammatory signs were painted on walls. It took M. Tharaldsen's explanation that irreconcilability over Algeria was as hard to deal with as it had been in our own Civil War to put things into perspective.

His thoughtful explanations about Napoleon answered our questions about the unusual authority given to President Charles de Gaulle. France is striving to restore itself to major-power status. Frenchmen never will forget Napoleon.

Air France, M. Tharaldsen's employer, boasts it is the "world's largest airline," meaning it covers the greatest distances of all the flag lines that now lace this shrinking globe in a network of aviation services. France is making a larger place for itself than it was consigned to when it collapsed under the Nazi blitzkrieg in 1940.

Everybody admires Paris as a rare urban flower of civilization — a shimmer of loveliness and laughter that has bedazzled men for centuries. Everybody knows what happens when the boys see Paree—whee and gee!

But now, thanks to M. Tharaldsen, we know what goes on beneath the shimmer. Paris is the dynamo for a new France led by the stubborn general who refused to go to pieces under the blitzkrieg.

French school children were visiting Versailles the day we were there. They were as goggle-eyed as we were at what the revolutionists left of this incredible monument to the extravagance of Louis XIV, the great king who had to build everything king-size to take care of the huge court that kept him in power. Frenchmen are as proud of what his extravagances did for their culture as they are of what Napoleon's excesses did for French militarism. But these things are past and gone.

Today it's nuclear fission, a stable currency, high employment in a booming industrial economy, great international organizations like Air France and earnest young men like our friend Tharaldsen who matter —these things and the unquenchable French passion for individual liberty. They are all that matter now.

M. Tharaldsen said when we parted, "I don't see how anyone could have been shown more than you've seen in the short time you were here."

Only because we saw it through your understanding eyes, monsieur, and learned about it through your understanding heart. Thank you and the great airline that made it possible for us to be your friends.

From now on "Vive la France!" for us will have double meaning.

A Dream Walking

Wall Fails To Hinder Berlin

By Willy Brandt

Victor Riesel, enroute to Europe for material for future columns, has invited a number of prominent persons to be his "guest columnists" until he resumes his daily writings. Today's "guest" is the mayor of West Berlin.

There are many reasons why the Communists last August sealed off East Berlin with a wall of barbed wire and concrete blocks, making a vast prison camp of East Berlin and the Soviet Zone of Germany. Among these reasons, perhaps the most important of all, was to put an end to the mass exodus of young people and skilled workers, the lifeblood of a country's economy.

Many people are aware of the fact that three million persons escaped from Communist West terror in the so-called German Democratic Republic before the Wall went up. But what is sometimes forgotten is that fully half of these were under 25 years of age! And one-third of them were skilled workers!

THIS FLIGHT of youth and skilled workers is irrefutable proof of the ultimate bankruptcy of Communism, not only politically but economically as well.

After all, Communism is portrayed by its proponents as the paradise of the worker. The lesson of Berlin is that whenever the worker is given a free choice, he will choose freedom.

The same can be said of youth. It appears that no amount of brainwashing can remove the drive for freedom among young people. One should not forget that these young people of East Germany never knew freedom until they crossed the sector border into West Berlin.

For nearly 30 years, the people of the Soviet Zone have lived in slavery first under the Nazis, then under the Communists. The bray of radio propaganda and the screams of the giant slogans across the roads could not lessen the magnetic pull of freedom.

We in West Berlin are proud of our city's role as a magnet, proud of the fact that more than any other people, we stand as a living symbol for freedom. This doesn't mean that the Wall does not make us sad; of course it does. But still we believe that the day will come when there no longer will be a wall, when there will be a single, unified Berlin within the framework of a single, unified Germany.

IN WORKING toward that day, our job in Berlin is to preserve our freedom, expand our economy and continue to develop our city as an attractive place in which to live and work and as a home for the arts and sciences. When the Communists put up the Wall of Shame on Aug. 13, 1961, they fell prey to the illusion that this would bring about the downfall of our city. They were mistaken, as they have been so often in the past.

Although the Wall did close off the escape route to freedom for millions of people, it could not undermine confidence in the future of the city. Industrial orders received by West Berlin, still the largest industrial city between Paris and Moscow, have not declined.

More money is going into savings accounts than is being withdrawn. Savings on deposit in November 1960 totaled $442 million, but by November 1961 they had climbed to $490 million.

MANY THOUSANDS of skilled workers from West Gemany have applied for jobs in West Berlin; some 7,000 already have found permanent positions. For several months now, more people have come to West Berlin than have left.

This fact is most significant.

When the Wall went up, the West Berlin labor market lost more than 60,000 wage earners. This represents the number of East German "border crossers" who, until Aug. 13, 1961, passed the sector borders each day from East Berlin and neighboring areas of East Germany to work in West Berlin.

Because of an increase in efficiency and productivity and because of the flow of workers from West Germany, industrial output has continued to increase, even after Aug. 13, 1961.

For instance, in April 1962, production in the processing industries was up 3.4 per cent over the same month in 1961. During the same period, production of consumer goods rose 6.6 per cent. In the year the Wall went up, 1961, capital spending in West Berlin increased 10.9 per cent over pre-Wall 1960.

ALL THIS points up a degree of confidence in the economic viability of West Berlin that must have confounded Premier Khrushchev and his agents in East Germany. Not only are more workers coming, but they are showing that they mean to stay. Our population is actually increasing.

And so many young people in West Berlin have decided to start families that license bureaus have to handle long waiting lines for marriage applications.

This confidence in West Berlin is being demonstrated not only by the young and adventurous but also by the seasoned and cautious.

More and more hard-headed American businessmen are opening up enterprises in West Berlin. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith opened a branch office in Berlin after the Wall was built.

Yale & Towne recently announced it will open a plant in Berlin; other American firms are expected to follow suit.

OUR WESTERN allies, notably the United States, along with the government of West Germany have been helping not only with words but with deeds. Shortly after Aug. 13, 1961, the government in Bonn set aside about $125 million to help us speed our long-range planning and to provide vacation money for every West Berliner.

Beginning July 1, the federal government is providing tax benefits and capital credits on a wider scale to boost West Berlin as an attractive place to work and to locate new industries.

Our government in West Berlin is equally confident. We recently voted $76 million to expand transportation, recreation and cultural facilities in 1963 — an increase of $6 million over the sum planned for 1962.

The point is clear and basic. We believe in ourselves; we believe in our government in Bonn; we believe in the Western alliance, particularly the United States.

It is the Truth that makes man free. But the Wall is physical proof of a Lie. It proves the claim that Communism is a workers' paradise is false. And history has proved that a Lie can never destroy the Truth.

The World Challenge

By David Lawrence

Economic Future Reveals High Promise

GENEVA

There's a curious assumption prevalent at the conference of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations which has just opened here. It is that peace lies ahead. Nobody doubts the possibility of war, but almost everybody discounts the probability.

David Lawrence

Planning, therefore, becomes ambitious. The "Development Decade" in the world, which is the theme of discussion here, involves a global concept of such challenging scope that it defies the imagination.

The talk, of course, is of the help that the "better developed" countries can give to the "underdeveloped." But, as has often been pointed out, even some of the larger countries like the United States don't concede that they have reached the top stage of their development.

Likewise, these so-called "underdeveloped" areas do not all need the same kind of aid or technical assistance, since their resources and aptitudes differ.

THE WORD that Paul Hoffman, managing director of the United Nations Special Fund, uses to describe the task tactfully is "modernization."

But in taking a look around the world, some practicalities come in conflict with mere theory.

Where is the money to come from? The plans of the specialized U.N. agencies in the fields of economic and scientific and social development — which are together beginning a month's intensive study here of these phases — cannot be fulfilled unless the financial sinews are available. The main answer is that money will come largely from "soft" loans — long-term and at low interest — and from "hard" loans that are backed by ample security.

To supplement this, governments and peoples will make outright contributions, especially in furnishing funds for technical aid and assistance in the social and economic fields.

One is impressed not only by the enormity of the undertaking, but by the lack of knowledge within most countries as to how they really can be helped and what can be done to promote natural and normal trade and production.

Nearly every country has resources to develop and a rapidly growing population to think about — its potential demand for goods and services, and the training needed to build some sort of sustaining economy.

There is no harm in abstract thinking or in objective discussions. It is, in fact, reassuring to find the world turning from talk about fallout shelters and possible devastation by nuclear war, to economic studies and discussions about how to make the different countries of the world more productive of goods and services. This is a healthy turn.

THERE IS A TENDENCY, of course, to think in terms of continents. President Kennedy mentioned this in his 4th of July address. Much stress is laid upon it in the discussions here. But as one observer pointed out, geography unfortunately doesn't solve the problem.

Some countries within one continent do not have the same requirement as others, and there may be more in common between nations in Africa which have reached a certain stage of development and certain states in Central America, than between the larger and smaller countries in each continent.

It is the stage of evolution, rather than the location of the countries, that becomes germane to any over-all plan of organized assistance.

The need for economic help nearly everywhere is conceded. Acting Secretary - General U Thant said this week to the meeting of the U.N.'s Economic and Social Council:

"The United Nations development decade is an appeal to our faith in the preservation and in the continuation of economic and social progress by investing in the younger generations who, in addition to education and training, require help to fight malnutrition and disease.

"Together with investment in industry, large and small, in natural resources and in transport, investment in less - developed countries during the decade must provide for the construction of more than 20 million dwellings in less-developed areas and for an increase in food supplies of 50 per cent.

"In those same countries, expenditure for public health services must double over the period, and expenditure on education must rise to an annual rate of 4 per cent of the national product by the end of the decade.

"All this in order to meet minimum requirements so interrelated that failure to reach one target in time may jeopardize advances on all other fronts."

WHILE THE CONTINUANCE of suffering and poverty is deplorable, it is an open question whether mere grants of charity will do the job when what really is needed is the training and education of the persons with the best brains in every country, so that there can slowly but surely be brought into being systems of domestic development and production of goods and services suitable for each people's needs.

There has been a considerable emphasis here on the importance of making each country eventually self-reliant.

The subject is so far-reaching that, after listening to the generalities of it for several days, one is impressed not only with the challenge of the task but the opportunities for bilateral and multilateral trade in the world. That's why the European Common Market idea has caught the imagination of people everywhere. For it is based on the conviction that there is a way for countries to trade with one another fairly and profitably and thus to continue to live with each other peaceably, even in a nuclear age.

Rayburn-McCormack

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

None of the luster has been rubbed off the memory of Sam Rayburn by his successor as speaker of the House, lanky John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

The 70-year-old New Englander is a pale figure compared with Rayburn, a Texan who, when he died last year at 79, had become the patriarch of the House Democrats.

Rayburn became speaker in 1940. Between then and the time he died McCormack had been his right-hand man as majority leader or Democratic whip.

Rayburn went home sick in 1961 before the Democratic-run House had finished its work for the year, leaving McCormack in charge. When the session was over McCormack spoke proudly of its record.

He can't do the same so far this year, although he has been top man from the beginning and Democrats heavily outnumber Republicans.

McCormack may get an "A" for trying but not for performance.

The simple fact is he was never as colorful as Rayburn, isn't now, and probably couldn't be or want to try to be. He has none of Rayburn's dramatics or his sense of dramatics.

What counts more—politically—is what kind of captain, soothsayer, and magician has he been in getting his Democratic administration's programs through?

He hasn't been particularly distinguished in any of those three categories. Take the soothsayer's role first.

Relations between House and Senate are not as good as when Rayburn was speaker and fellow Texan Lyndon B. Johnson, now vice president, was Senate Democratic leader. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana is Johnson's successor.

Twice within a year the House, with McCormack in charge, has offended the Senate. At the end of last year, at the very end, the House passed an appropriations bill, sent it to the Senate on a take-it-or-leave-it basis and quit for 1961.

Mansfield didn't mention McCormack by name (he didn't have to) when he told his fellow-senators: "It is outrageous. We have to swallow it. But I think it is a poor sign of the comity which should exist between the two bodies."

The senators could, and did, take this as meaning they were being called wasteful spenders. Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Pa., called it "deliberately insulting."

Rayburn had worked hard to keep relations between the two bodies cool. If he had been around he might have been able to prevent both pokes in the Senate's eye.

Man Chosen As Principal At South Side

Robert R. Wagoner, a teacher and former principal in the Beaver Falls area, has been hired as elementary principal for South Side elementary school near Hookstown by the Southern Beaver County Joint Board of Education.

He succeeds Carl Walcott, who resigned recently to accept a position as elementary supervisor in the Northeastern Beaver County Joint School District.

Wagoner is married, has three children and resides in Chippewa Township near Beaver Falls.

He is a graduate of Ambridge High School and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Geneva College and his Master of Education degree from the University of Pittsburgh,

He taught the fourth and fifth grades at New Galilee in 1950-1952 and the sixth grade at Beaver Falls Central School in 1952-1954. He also taught and was building principal at Beaver Falls 5th Ave. elementary school in 1954-1959.

He then left teaching and was employed in industry two years. Last year he taught seventh and eighth grade math and science at the West Park elementary school of the Highland Suburban School District near Beaver Falls.

In other business at a special meeting Monday night, the board hired several other teachers, but will contact them first for their acceptance before announcing the selections.

Victor F. Thomas, supervising principal, said no word has been received yet from the State Public School Building Authority at Harrisburg on the singing of $506,027 in contracts, scheduled Tuesday, for the 10-classroom addition and other additions at South Side High School.

Salvation Army's Campaign Hits Total Of $24.000

A total of $24,000 now has been realized in the Salvation Army's campaign for $115,410 to purchase the former home of American Legion Post 4, Maj. William Hathorn, commander, announced today. The figure represents a gain of about $2,000 since the last report a week ago.

Maj. Hathorn pointed out 21 per cent of the goal has been attained. The Special Gifts division is leading all other groups, with $7,000. Members of the Salvation Army have contributed $3,500, with the Professional and Commercial Divisions close behind.

A direct mail campaign is under way to all employes of area potteries and the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. The direct mail drive is necessary because local firms do not permit in-plant solicitations, the major said.

Maj. Hathorn urged all workers to complete their calls in order that the campaign may be concluded as quickly as possible. He said any worthwhile community project or group will have access to the renovated auditorium, which has a completely equipped kitchen.

Proceeds from sale of the present Citadel will be used to construct a new chapel wing and offices at the former Post 4 home.

The sales report, based on preliminary figures, was issued Tuesday by the Commerce Department. It showed that retail sales were down by $431 million to a total of $19.1 billion in June, the sharpest dip since the end of the 1961 recession. Retail sales were off by $117 million in May.

Mrs. Charlotte Dixon of N. Market St. was named cook at McKinley cafeteria. Four other teachers still are needed for first, second and third grades and a high school math teacher.

The board recommended Nationwide Insurance for coverage for pupils for the coming year at a cost of $2.50, plus $18 for high school football.

The board will pay tuition for one pupil attending the Retarded Children's School in Elkton at a rate of $16.27 per month, the same as it receives in tuition in the local school system.

Supt. Russell Armitage was authorized to advertise for coal bids for the coming school year, along with gasoline and washing for the year of all school buses. Bids also will be asked for shades at windows in the new addition to McKinley School and a new typewriter will be bought for high school offices.

He also said the board will have open house for the new 14-room addition to McKinley School and new offices sometime late in September after the school is opened and classes are operating.

Henry Dawes, clerk of the board, was authorized to attend a clerk's conference at Kent State University July 20.

The board's next meeting will be Aug. 14 at 8:30 p. m.

Man Chosen As Principal At South Side

Robert R. Wagoner, a teacher and former principal in the Beaver Falls area, has been hired as elementary principal for South Side elementary school near Hookstown by the Southern Beaver County Joint Board of Education.

He succeeds Carl Walcott, who resigned recently to accept a position as elementary supervisor in the Northeastern Beaver County Joint School District.

Wagoner is married, has three children and resides in Chippewa Township near Beaver Falls.

He is a graduate of Ambridge High School and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Geneva College and his Master of Education degree from the University of Pittsburgh,

He taught the fourth and fifth grades at New Galilee in 1950-1952 and the sixth grade at Beaver Falls Central School in 1952-1954. He also taught and was building principal at Beaver Falls 5th Ave. elementary school in 1954-1959.

He then left teaching and was employed in industry two years. Last year he taught seventh and eighth grade math and science at the West Park elementary school of the Highland Suburban School District near Beaver Falls.

In other business at a special meeting Monday night, the board hired several other teachers, but will contact them first for their acceptance before announcing the selections.

Victor F. Thomas, supervising principal, said no word has been received yet from the State Public School Building Authority at Harrisburg on the singing of $506,027 in contracts, scheduled Tuesday, for the 10-classroom addition and other additions at South Side High School.

James McLaughlin is the only jockey to win three straight Belmont Stakes.

Salvation Army's Campaign Hits Total Of $24,000

A total of $24,000 now has been realized in the Salvation Army's campaign for $115,410 to purchase the former home of American Legion Post 4, Maj. William Hathorn, commander, announced today. The figure represents a gain of about $2,000 since the last report a week ago.

Maj. Hathorn pointed out 21 per cent of the goal has been attained. The Special Gifts division is leading all other groups, with $7,000. Members of the Salvation Army have contributed $3,500, with the Professional and Commercial Divisions close behind.

A direct mail campaign is under way to all employes of area potteries and the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. The direct mail drive is necessary because local firms do not permit in-plant solicitations, the major said.

Maj. Hathorn urged all workers to complete their calls in order that the campaign may be concluded as quickly as possible. He said any worthwhile community project or group will have access to the renovated auditorium, which has a completely equipped kitchen.

Proceeds from sale of the present Citadel will be used to construct a new chapel wing and offices at the former Post 4 home.

A breakdown of the amounts provided for next year, with 1962 figures in parenthesis:

Administration, $35,330 ($38,081.13); instruction, $338,320 ($323,509.07); co-ordinate act, $22,625 ($20,219); libraries, $6,800 ($6,500); transportation, $24,725 ($34,093); auxiliary services, $52,120 ($52,502); operation of plant, $53,640 ($51,958); maintenance of plant, $3,750 ($3,750) and capital outlay, ($1,000).

In other business the board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Sandra Rowan, second grade teacher at McKinley School. Mrs. Charlotte Dixon of N. Market St. was named cook at McKinley cafeteria. Four other teachers still are needed for first, second and third grades and a high school math teacher.

The board recommended Nationwide Insurance for coverage for pupils for the coming year at a cost of $2.50, plus $18 for high school football.

The board will pay tuition for one pupil attending the Retarded Children's School in Elkton at a rate of $16.27 per month, the same as it receives in tuition in the local school system.

Supt. Russell Armitage was authorized to advertise for coal bids for the coming school year, along with gasoline and washing for the year of all school buses. Bids also will be asked for shades at windows in the new addition to McKinley School and a new typewriter will be bought for high school offices.

He also said the board will have open house for the new 14-room addition to McKinley School and new offices sometime late in September after the school is opened and classes are operating.

Henry Dawes, clerk of the board, was authorized to attend a clerk's conference at Kent State University July 20.

The board's next meeting will be Aug. 14 at 8:30 p. m.

Rotary Club Program

Schools, 4 Students Cited

In a salute to education, the Rotary Club awarded plaques to four area high schools and the valedictorians of each at a program Tuesday afternoon in the Travelers Hotel.

Asserting that "these are the leaders of tomorrow," Dr. George M. VanHorne, director-chairman of the club's vocational service committee, presented the awards after a ringing plea for more recognition of education.

"One doesn't become a valedictorian overnight," Dr. VanHorne declared. "These awards represent hard work, application, the following of rigid requirements and paying attention to those things which are important."

"These are the leaders of tomorrow for our communities," Dr. VanHorne said. "They may be research artists, the ones behind the wheels that turn, and it is imperative that we give the awards in the proper light."

VanHorne termed the recognition by the club of five honor students from four local schools as "a great step in community service that is not to be taken lightly."

The recipients of plaques, all headed for institutions of higher learning this fall, are:

Jane F. Bendheim, 17, of East Liverpool High School, who will major in biology at Tufts University, Medford, Mass.

Janet K. Robison, 18, of Wells High School in Newell, who will major in mathematics at Westminster University.

John Gary Hickman, 17, of Beaver Local, who plans to major in engineering at the University of Cincinnati.

Frank C. Lyons, 18, of Beaver Local, who will major in engineering at Ohio State University.

A similar award will be presented William Hobbs, valedictorian of Chester High School, who was unable to attend because of summer employment.

Hickman and Lyons tied for top honors at Beaver Local with perfect 4.0 grade averages. Miss Robison also compiled a perfect record, and Miss Bendheim was valedictorian of ELHS with a 4.167 average.

Each student received an engraved plaque. Plaques also will be given to each school. The names of future valedictorians will be added to the plaques in the buildings each year.

Don't put the awards on a shelf to gather dust,' that's what's wrong with education, it isn't dusted off and shined up enough," Vanhorne told the students.

VanHorne presented the school awards to Principals George Hargraves of East Liverpool and Lee Kirkland of Beaver Local.

The Rotary Valedictorian Awards program was initiated earlier this year under Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, whose term as president expired July 1.

The program also included a talk and demonstration on the merits of physical fitness and exercise by Carl (Pop) Werner, general secretary of the YMCA and a club member.

Werner advised members to "never let the circumference of your waist exceed the circumference of your chest."

Pointing to the high number of men found physically unfit in armed service examinations during World War II, Werner declared: "The average person is content to let things go and pay no attention to their bodies."

Those "in the pink of condition" are more able to think, work and move successfully, he declared.

He demonstrated six basic exercises that he commented "will put you in good shape if you practice them religiously." The general secretary of the Y also recommended walking and swimming as two of the best exercises, in addition to sit - ups, squats and other movements which he demonstrated.

Ralph A. Finley, vice president, presided. Sidney C. Porter Jr. is president.

Rotary Club Program

In a salute to education, the Rotary Club awarded plaques to four area high schools and the valedictorians of each at a program Tuesday afternoon in the Travelers Hotel.

Asserting that "these are the leaders of tomorrow," Dr. George M. VanHorne, director-chairman of the club's vocational service committee, presented the awards after a ringing plea for more recognition of education.

"One doesn't become a valedictorian overnight," Dr. VanHorne declared. "These awards represent hard work, application, the following of rigid requirements and paying attention to those things which are important."

"These are the leaders of tomorrow for our communities," Dr. VanHorne said. "They may be research artists, the ones behind the wheels that turn, and it is imperative that we give the awards in the proper light."

VanHorne termed the recognition by the club of five honor students from four local schools as "a great step in community service that is not to be taken lightly."

The recipients of plaques, all headed for institutions of higher learning this fall, are:

Jane F. Bendheim, 17, of East Liverpool High School, who will major in biology at Tufts University, Medford, Mass.

Janet K. Robison, 18, of Wells High School in Newell, who will major in mathematics at Westminster University.

John Gary Hickman, 17, of Beaver Local, who plans to major in engineering at the University of Cincinnati.

Frank C. Lyons, 18, of Beaver Local, who will major in engineering at Ohio State University.

A similar award will be presented William Hobbs, valedictorian of Chester High School, who was unable to attend because of summer employment.

Hickman and Lyons tied for top honors at Beaver Local with perfect 4.0 grade averages. Miss Robison also compiled a perfect record, and Miss Bendheim was valedictorian of ELHS with a 4.167 average.

Each student received an engraved plaque. Plaques also will be given to each school. The names of future valedictorians will be added to the plaques in the buildings each year.

Don't put the awards on a shelf to gather dust,' that's what's wrong with education, it isn't dusted off and shined up enough," Vanhorne told the students.

VanHorne presented the school awards to Principals George Hargraves of East Liverpool and Lee Kirkland of Beaver Local.

The Rotary Valedictorian Awards program was initiated earlier this year under Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, whose term as president expired July 1.

The program also included a talk and demonstration on the merits of physical fitness and exercise by Carl (Pop) Werner, general secretary of the YMCA and a club member.

Werner advised members to "never let the circumference of your waist exceed the circumference of your chest."

Pointing to the high number of men found physically unfit in armed service examinations during World War II, Werner declared: "The average person is content to let things go and pay no attention to their bodies."

Those "in the pink of condition" are more able to think, work and move successfully, he declared.

He demonstrated six basic exercises that he commented "will put you in good shape if you practice them religiously." The general secretary of the Y also recommended walking and swimming as two of the best exercises, in addition to sit-ups, squats and other movements which he demonstrated.

Ralph A. Finley, vice president, presided. Sidney C. Porter Jr. is president.

West Virginia Ends Fiscal $1.6 Million Over Estimates

CHARLESTON (AP) — State Finance Commissioner Truman E. Gore said yesterday that if the present trend continues, West Virginia should have no financial problems for the new fiscal year.

Gore said that although the state started the 1961-62 fiscal year in financial trouble; it wound up June 30 with net general fund receipts $1,630,006 in excess of estimates.

Net general fund receipts for the year ended June 30 totaled $149,093,206, including $20,958,722 for the first 18 months of the state's operation under the personal income tax law enacted by the 1961 Legislature.

Many of the state's big money producers were in excess of estimates.

The consumers sales tax receipts were $8.7 million higher than in the previous year as a result primarily of an increase in the tax rate from 2 to 3 per cent on sales more than $1. The receipts were $42.9 million.

The gross sales tax netted $53.9 million, up $2.8 million. And income tax receipts exceeded by $2.2 million the $18.7 million estimate by the State Board of Public Works.

State spending agencies began the last fiscal year with a 3 per cent reserve in effect against all legislative appropriations from general fund revenues. The Board of Public Works then removed 2 per cent of the reserve last spring, and the remaining 1 per cent in May.

Gore said controls over spending probably will result in a cash balance of $7 million in the general fund at the end of the past fiscal year. That figure has not yet been determined.

He estimated that an unencumbered balance of $1.2 million to $1.5 million probably will be carried over into the current year after bills which must be paid from 1961-62 appropriations are cleared up during July.

City Husband Escapes Term On Non-Support

An East Liverpool man agreed today in Municipal Court to move out of his home and spend $20 of his $39 for groceries to avoid a 60-day term in the County Jail at Lisbon for non-support of his three young children.

Fred Cosgrove, 154 Fawcett St., agreed to the terms laid down by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff as conditions on which the jail term would be suspended. Cosgrove also agreed not to interfere with his wife when she moves back into the home.

Obviously irked because two youngsters, who had been staying with their father, were sleeping on the floor, Judge Chertoff told Cosgrove, "I don't believe you're fit to be a father."

Mrs. Mary Cosgrove, now residing with a relative on the Y. & O. Rd. with the youngest child, filed the charge. She, a relative and Cosgrove testified.

to abandon the project Monday.

His former wife, Jane, made the underwater attempt in 1960 and 1961, but failed both times. They now are divorced.

A former paratrooper and a veteran long-distance swimmer, Baldasare is a cousin of Fred Baldasare, Wellsville safety-service director. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Baldasare of Cocoa, Fla. His family moved from Wellsville when he was a child.

He made an unprecedented three-mile crossing of the Straits of Messina in Italy on June 10, using underwater gear.

Wellsville Crew Pushes Ahead In Work On Streets

The street washing program in Wellsville is well under way, according to Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare, who also announced the oiling of unpaved streets and alleys is continuing.

The second round of street washing got under way Monday when the main thoroughfare from 3rd and Lisbon Sts. to 12th and Main Sts. was covered. Tuesday night, the crew washed the street from 12th and Main to 25th St. and Clark Ave.

The volunteer firemen, under the direction of Chief Robert Lewis, are doing the work. Thursday night they will cover the area from 3rd and Lisbon east to the "super road."

The sweeping schedule calls for operations on Riverside from 3rd to 9th Sts. and Center St. from 9th to 15th Sts., beginning at 4 this afternoon. The area will be posted and residents are urged to sweep their sidewalks before the sweeper passes.

Several alleys and unpaved streets are to be oiled today. The schedule calls for the oiling of every unpaved section in town, Baldasare said.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

Fine Suspended On Tax Charges

John H. Lacey, 438 1st Ave., drew a suspended $25 fine and costs Tuesday when he appeared before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to explain what action he had taken to pay his 1961 municipal income tax.

Scheduled to appear this morning, Lacey went into court yesterday, explaining to the judge he borrowed the money to pay the 1961 tax and make payments on his 1962 estimated tax.

He appeared in court after visiting the income tax office in the basement to make the payments.

Lacey was one of several cited for failing to file estimates of the 1961 tax. When arraigned, his hearing was continued until last Friday to allow him time to make arrangements to pay the tax. However, he failed to appear Friday.

Mrs. Shirley Ware, 440 14th St., Wellsville, returned home Saturday after surgery at City Hospital.

City Husband Escapes Term On Non-Support

An East Liverpool man agreed today in Municipal Court to move out of his home and spend $20 of his $39 for groceries to avoid a 60-day term in the County Jail at Lisbon for non-support of his three young children.

Fred Cosgrove, 154 Fawcett St., agreed to the terms laid down by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff as conditions on which the jail term would be suspended. Cosgrove also agreed not to interfere with his wife when she moves back into the home.

Obviously irked because two youngsters, who had been staying with their father, were sleeping on the floor, Judge Chertoff told Cosgrove, "I don't believe you're fit to be a father."

Mrs. Mary Cosgrove, now residing with a relative on the Y. & O. Rd. with the youngest child, filed the charge. She, a relative and Cosgrove testified.

Wellsville Crew Pushes Ahead In Work On Streets

The street washing program in Wellsville is well under way, according to Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare, who also announced the oiling of unpaved streets and alleys is continuing.

The second round of street washing got under way Monday when the main thoroughfare from 3rd and Lisbon Sts. to 12th and Main Sts. was covered. Tuesday night, the crew washed the street from 12th and Main to 25th St. and Clark Ave.

The volunteer firemen, under the direction of Chief Robert Lewis, are doing the work. Thursday night they will cover the area from 3rd and Lisbon east to the "super road."

The sweeping schedule calls for operations on Riverside from 3rd to 9th Sts. and Center St. from 9th to 15th Sts., beginning at 4 this afternoon. The area will be posted and residents are urged to sweep their sidewalks before the sweeper passes.

Several alleys and unpaved streets are to be oiled today. The schedule calls for the oiling of every unpaved section in town, Baldasare said.

Fine Suspended On Tax Charges

John H. Lacey, 438 1st Ave., drew a suspended $25 fine and costs Tuesday when he appeared before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to explain what action he had taken to pay his 1961 municipal income tax.

Scheduled to appear this morning, Lacey went into court yesterday, explaining to the judge he borrowed the money to pay the 1961 tax and make payments on his 1962 estimated tax.

He appeared in court after visiting the income tax office in the basement to make the payments.

Lacey was one of several cited for failing to file estimates of the 1961 tax. When arraigned, his hearing was continued until last Friday to allow him time to make arrangements to pay the tax. However, he failed to appear Friday.

Co-Operation Of Motorists Sought At Construction Site

The contractor for the relocation of Route 7 below Yellow Creek today asked the co-operation of motorists when traveling in the construction area in refraining from interfering with the movement of huge earth-laden trucks.

S. J. Groves & Co., contractor for the huge project, said motorists who interfere with the movement of earth-hauling vehicles only prolong the time needed to complete the job.

The contractor also added that the narrow stretch of Route 7 being relocated was not blocked intentionally Monday night by the firm's trucks, but traffic was delayed because of a huge landslide.

The slide of earth and rocks was several thousand yards in length and traffic was delayed for three to four hours while the rubble was hauled away.

While the slide was being cleared away, an impatient motorist moved his car in front of a truck to break up a formation in an attempt to restore traffic movement.

But the contractor said the motorist only prolonged the job of clearing the slide and "he couldn't have gone anywhere, anyway, because the road was blocked."

The contractor is maintaining two consecutive shifts of workmen daily and said traffic should move smoothly without much delay in about six weeks.

The relocation project lies between a hillside and railroad tracks on the south side of Flagpole Hill.

Virginia Democrats Choose 2 Candidates For Congress

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia Democrats chose candidates for Congress in two district primary elections Tuesday — a conservative in the conservative 7th and a strong Kennedy administration supporter in the more liberal northern 10th District.

Left unanswered was whether John O. Marsh Jr.'s victory over a field of five in the 7th District race meant a clear track in November as successor to retiring Democratic Rep. Burr P. Harrison.

The Republicans nominated J. Kenneth Robinson, a Winchester horticulturist, at a recent convention to make the run—a nomination Robinson thus far has declined to accept or reject.

Trouble ahead in November is a certainty for the 10th District winner, research scientist Augustus C. Johnson, 47, former Fairfax County Democratic party chairman, who easily defeated two opponents. He will face Republican Rep. Joel T. Broyhill who won the seat in the newly created district in 1952 and has been able to stand off Democratic challengers by increasingly larger margins in the four elections that followed.

Ohio Jobless Picture Relatively Unchanged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's unemployment picture remained relatively unchanged last week, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported today.

The number of Ohioans receiving benefits as of last Saturday was 77,136, down about 600 from the previous week but up about 1,500 from the week ended June 23. The July 1961 average was 40,000 higher than at present.

Hearing Slated To End On Blue Cross Rate Hike

CINCINNATI (AP) — A public hearing on proposed Blue Cross rate increases was scheduled to end here today.

The Hospital Care Corp., which operates the Blue Cross plans, is seeking a 21.5 per cent rate hike to offset rising costs of hospitalization. Earl H. Kammer, executive vice president of the firm, declared Tuesday that Blue Cross has been "operating continuously in the red since the first of the year."

Kammer said the average cost of periods in the hospital rose from $206.30 in October 1960 to $236.30 in June 1962—an increase of 14.7 per cent. Other costs also rose, he said, leading to an overall cost increase of 20.7 per cent.

The new rates would go into effect Sept. 1. The present and proposed monthly fees are:

—Standard 70-day remittance group contract: single, $2.75 to $3.45; family, $6.95 to $8.35.

—Standard 70-day group conversion and pay-direct contract: single, $4.50 to $5.65; family, $9 to $11.30.

—Comprehensive 120-day contract: single, $4 to $5.10; family, $9.60 to $11.35.

$700,000 Paintings Stolen From Gallery

LONDON (AP)—The theft of 35 paintings valued at $700,000 from a private art gallery was discovered today.

Scene of the robbery was the O'Hana Art Gallery in London's fashionable Mayfair district.

Police said the thieves got in by forcing a rear door.

It was the biggest art theft in England since the theft of a Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington from the National Gallery last August.

The Goya, valued at $392,000, is still missing.

The O'Hana Gallery specializes in modern art.

London has had a wave of art thefts in recent months. A Renoir and two Picassos were among 12 paintings stolen last May. Eleven of the paintings were recovered a week afterward.

Boys Will See Pirates' Game

The South Side Athletic Club Tuesday night discussed plans for taking six bus loads of South Side Hot Stove League players to Pittsburgh Saturday to see the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals play.

About 312 boys of the league's seven districts are eligible to make the trip. All boys and managers are to report Saturday at 10:30 a. m. at the home of American Legion Post 952 near Hookstown. Boys with uniforms are to wear them.

All districts were represented at last night's meeting except Shippingport. William (Bud) Green, president, presided and John Nash, treasurer, reported $366.05 was realized in the Tag Day held last Saturday in the districts. A letter was read from United Steelworkers Local 1211 of Aliquippa, which also contained a $25 donation to the club and its league.

Daniel Wright, secretary, reported that a special meeting will be held next Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the post home for the seven managers of the junior division to elect a manager and coaches for an All-Star team. The team will also be selected.

Herbert Breinig, owner of the Golden Lariat Ranch in Hanover Township, reported that a recent horse show was operated at a loss. It was to have benefited the club. It was decided to cancel the other two shows scheduled for this summer.

Next meeting will be July 24 at 8:30 p. m. at the Legion hall. The club's auxiliary will meet Monday at 8 p. m. at the hall.

Al Booker, 80-year-old trainer from Ft. Mitchell, Ky., gave Eddie Arcaro his first mount at Agua Caliente when Arcaro was 16.

Dr. Luthy, 50, To Fight Order Of Deportation

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Nydia Barker Luthy, former Findlay College faculty member, has decided to fight a deportation order in a civil action at the same time she is preparing a defense against criminal charges of illegal reentry into the United States.

The 50-year-old Ukrainian native, who joined Findlay College as head of the chemistry department in 1961 and was dropped from the faculty after her arrest in May, is free on $25,000 bond.

Monday one of Dr. Luthy's attorneys said she would not appeal the deportation order. But late Monday afternoon in Detroit another of her lawyers sent in the appeal.

Thomas M. Pederson, district immigration and naturalization director here, said the appeal arrived Tuesday and was postmarked prior to the Monday midnight deadline for filing. Pederson said the appeal will go to the Board of Immigration Appeals in Washington for final decision.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers. I've been married to a woman who considers herself too intelligent to do housework. She says housework is for the peasants.

She plays the harp so of course she can't put her hands in dishwater. She claims the water softens her skin and then the strings of the harp cut her fingers.

I bought her a dishwasher three years ago but she used it twice and then quit. It loads from the bottom and she says she can't stand on her head. Our 12-year-old daughter listens to her mother's excuses and uses them herself. She plays the harp, too, and so, of course, she can't do dishes either.

I haven't had a decent meal at home for so long I can't remember it. We eat at my mother-in-law's most of the time, or I open up a can of beans and boil some frankfurters.

If you can tell me what to do you're a genius. — MARRIED BACHELOR.

Dear Bachelor: Your wife sounds like an adolescent who has fled from the responsibilities of adulthood. Get her to a marriage counselor and salvage this anemic relationship before its fit for nothing but burial.

Deceitful Males

Dear Ann: After reading your column for seven years I'm well aware that you are not sympathetic with single girls who get involved with married men. I agree it's foolish, dangerous and nonproductive, but what about the single girl who doesn't know the man is married?

I met a man two years ago who had me completely fooled. He took me to the nicest places and behaved like a perfect gentleman. I learned by accident that he had been married for 15 years, had a fine family and that his wife didn't have the slightest inkling of what he was up to. I wasted a year and a half on him.

Three months ago it happened again. This man lied to me from beginning to end. It was a disaster because I had fallen madly in love.

You say it's no act of friendship to tell a married woman her husband is cheating. I disagree. Why should the skunks be protected? Their wives should be told. Then the affair can be broken up. Sometimes it's the only way an innocent single girl has of learning the facts. — RIVER OF TEARS.

Dear River: It's only a phrase, honey — that heaven will protect the working girl. Working girls have to protect themselves. Any woman with two operating brain cells couldn't possibly keep steady company with a married man for 18 months and not suspect something fishy.

Worth Repeating

Dear Ann: Your advice to "Poor" was perfect. No satisfaction can match independence. It is impossible to be independent of parents if you accept their financial help.

My sister and her husband bled my parents white for 25 years. The folks were not rich, but they were comfortable. In their declining years when they had earned the right to take things easy they were forced to stay in business because my sister and her family "had to have so many things."

Today my parents are gone, and so is my sister. Her husband is helpless. He became so accustomed to leaning on others that he is now incapable of taking care of himself or his children.

He blames the government, bad luck and yes — the in-laws. He says they ran everything — never gave him a chance to be a man on his own. Please keep hammering away on this point, Ann. It should be repeated over and over.—F.D.

-:-

Dear F.D.: This is a double-edged sword, my friend. For every gift there must be a giver as well as a receiver. In emergencies parents should help their married children. But to give them luxuries, so they can enjoy a standard of living which otherwise would be impossibe, is foolish and destructive.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

East Ohio Gas Co. Official Testifies At Rate Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—East Ohio Gas Co.'s vice president in charge of rates testified at continuation of a Utilities Commission hearing Tuesday that the pipe it uses to supply natural gas to Northeastern Ohio communities averages nearly 20 years old.

Vice President Arthur H. Forbes of Cleveland reported this during probing of the issue of how many holes the company must dig for a representative sampling of the condition of its pipelines. The so-called random sampling plan is proposed to help determine East Ohio's worth for rate-making purposes in connection with its application for a $33.9 million annual rate increase.

Forbes said the test holes would cost an average of $150 each at perhaps 1,300 locations for a total of $195,000.

Cleveland Law Director Ralph Locher did most of the cross-examining of Forbes Tuesday, following up direct examination two weeks ago. Cleveland, Akron and Massillon have challenged East Ohio's application for the rate hike in more than 100 communities.

Testimony was expected to continue at least through this week.

Bears Also Can Sell Short

Average Margin Trader Termed 'Bull' At Heart

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Streeters say the average margin trader is a bull at heart. Bears also can use margins to sell short—that is, use credit when betting that prices will go down.

But the average margin trader uses credit to buy more stocks than his available cash would buy because he expects them to go up in price. And that is an underlying, if unacknowledged, reason in lowering margins when the bulls are downhearted.

Now the bull (if he has regained his courage and found the money) can buy on margin two $100 stocks for only $100 in cash. If the price goes up he'll make twice as much on the two as he could on the one he would have got by paying cash.

And by the same token, he'll make more paying out 50 cents on the dollar than he could have by putting up 70 cents as he was required to before the Federal Reserve Board lowered margins from 70 per cent to 50 per cent.

Of course, if prices should take a further tumble, the optimistic margin trader would be out of luck—he might have to sell or put up more cash, or even lose the cash he'd already paid.

The Federal Reserve set the rules for margin trading. But the various stock exchanges have their own rules, in addition, which member brokers must obey. (The New York Stock Exchange requires at least a $1,000 deposit before a margin account can be opened.)

And many individual brokerage firms impose even stricter margin rules than the minimum set by Fed and the exchanges.

Many brokerage houses require high credit ratings before allowing new traders to set up margin accounts. Also, many won't permit margin trading in the lowest priced stocks—those dear to the heart of the novice speculator. And most will call for more cash well before the stock's price has fallen below the cut-off level the Federal Reserve rules set.

Brokers say most margin accounts are active ones. That is, credit is most often used by in-and-out traders who buy and sell frequently. Only a small amount of inactive accounts by stock investors are on a margin basis. Most of the investor type trading is strictly a cash proposition with the stocks going into bank boxes until the investor decides they should be sold—for cash.

But even those who never buy on margin watch the Fed's change in rules closely. Rightly or wrongly, they feel that margins are dropped when it is felt that more stock buying would help the economy. And when margin traders buy more stock with their increased credit, the prices tend to go up.

The history of margin changes, however, doesn't always bear this out. Often when margins have been dropped, stock prices have risen only temporarily and if a bear market was already in progress, it has continued after a short upward spurt.

In the same way, hiking margins to chill speculative fever has not always worked either. Often prices have continued to rise, after a few days of indecision.

Former Pastor Feted At Picnic In Glenmoor

Members of the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church held a coverdish picnic Monday evening at Lake Marwin, honoring the Rev. Robert Tanguy, former pastor, and his family.

Rev. Tanguy now is pastor of the United Presbyterian Church in Jersey Shore, Pa. He and his wife, Mrs. Rose Tanguy, and three children, Debbie, Nancy and Doug, are on vacation.

About 50 attended. The Rev. James Donald, present pastor of the Glenmoor church, offered prayer. His wife also was present.

Guests were Miss Donna Higgins, a senior at a Oklahoma college, and Miss Patsy Psister, a sophomore from Ohio State University. Both are staying at the manse while supervising the summer youth program for two weeks.

City Flower Growers Await Outing July 22

Several members of the East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society will attend a picnic of dahlia growers July 22 at Jerry Kovar's near Warren.

The society met Monday night at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex, with William Haugh, vice president, in charge. Leo Lawrence, president, is in Canada on vacation.

John T. Eccleston gave a talk on mulching, discussing the various mulches and saying that wheat straws are the "poor man's mulch."

The control of insects was discussed, along with various diseases peculiar to dahlias. Lunch was served.

Next meeting will be Aug. 13 at the annex.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers. I've been married to a woman who considers herself too intelligent to do housework. She says housework is for the peasants.

She plays the harp so of course she can't put her hands in dishwater. She claims the water softens her skin and then the strings of the harp cut her fingers.

I bought her a dishwasher three years ago but she used it twice and then quit. It loads from the bottom and she says she can't stand on her head. Our 12-year-old daughter listens to her mother's excuses and uses them herself. She plays the harp, too, and so, of course, she can't do dishes either.

I haven't had a decent meal at home for so long I can't remember it. We eat at my mother-in-law's most of the time, or I open up a can of beans and boil some frankfurters.

If you can tell me what to do you're a genius. — MARRIED BACHELOR.

Dear Bachelor: Your wife sounds like an adolescent who has fled from the responsibilities of adulthood. Get her to a marriage counselor and salvage this anemic relationship before its fit for nothing but burial.

Deceitful Males

Dear Ann: After reading your column for seven years I'm well aware that you are not sympathetic with single girls who get involved with married men. I agree it's foolish, dangerous and nonproductive, but what about the single girl who doesn't know the man is married?

I met a man two years ago who had me completely fooled. He took me to the nicest places and behaved like a perfect gentleman. I learned by accident that he had been married for 15 years, had a fine family and that his wife didn't have the slightest inkling of what he was up to. I wasted a year and a half on him.

Three months ago it happened again. This man lied to me from beginning to end. It was a disaster because I had fallen madly in love.

You say it's no act of friendship to tell a married woman her husband is cheating. I disagree. Why should the skunks be protected? Their wives should be told. Then the affair can be broken up. Sometimes it's the only way an innocent single girl has of learning the facts. — RIVER OF TEARS.

Dear River: It's only a phrase, honey — that heaven will protect the working girl. Working girls have to protect themselves. Any woman with two operating brain cells couldn't possibly keep steady company with a married man for 18 months and not suspect something fishy.

Worth Repeating

Dear Ann: Your advice to "Poor" was perfect. No satisfaction can match independence. It is impossible to be independent of parents if you accept their financial help.

My sister and her husband bled my parents white for 25 years. The folks were not rich, but they were comfortable. In their declining years when they had earned the right to take things easy they were forced to stay in business because my sister and her family "had to have so many things."

Today my parents are gone, and so is my sister. Her husband is helpless. He became so accustomed to leaning on others that he is now incapable of taking care of himself or his children.

He blames the government, bad luck and yes — the in-laws. He says they ran everything — never gave him a chance to be a man on his own. Please keep hammering away on this point, Ann. It should be repeated over and over.—F.D.

-:-

Dear F.D.: This is a double-edged sword, my friend. For every gift there must be a giver as well as a receiver. In emergencies parents should help their married children. But to give them luxuries, so they can enjoy a standard of living which otherwise would be impossibe, is foolish and destructive.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

East Ohio Gas Co. Official Testifies At Rate Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—East Ohio Gas Co.'s vice president in charge of rates testified at continuation of a Utilities Commission hearing Tuesday that the pipe it uses to supply natural gas to Northeastern Ohio communities averages nearly 20 years old.

Vice President Arthur H. Forbes of Cleveland reported this during probing of the issue of how many holes the company must dig for a representative sampling of the condition of its pipelines. The so-called random sampling plan is proposed to help determine East Ohio's worth for rate-making purposes in connection with its application for a $33.9 million annual rate increase.

Forbes said the test holes would cost an average of $150 each at perhaps 1,300 locations for a total of $195,000.

Cleveland Law Director Ralph Locher did most of the cross-examining of Forbes Tuesday, following up direct examination two weeks ago. Cleveland, Akron and Massillon have challenged East Ohio's application for the rate hike in more than 100 communities.

Testimony was expected to continue at least through this week.

Bears Also Can Sell Short

Average Margin Trader Termed 'Bull' At Heart

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Streeters say the average margin trader is a bull at heart. Bears also can use margins to sell short—that is, use credit when betting that prices will go down.

But the average margin trader uses credit to buy more stocks than his available cash would buy because he expects them to go up in price. And that is an underlying, if unacknowledged, reason in lowering margins when the bulls are downhearted.

Now the bull (if he has regained his courage and found the money) can buy on margin two $100 stocks for only $100 in cash. If the price goes up he'll make twice as much on the two as he could on the one he would have got by paying cash.

And by the same token, he'll make more paying out 50 cents on the dollar than he could have by putting up 70 cents as he was required to before the Federal Reserve Board lowered margins from 70 per cent to 50 per cent.

Of course, if prices should take a further tumble, the optimistic margin trader would be out of luck—he might have to sell or put up more cash, or even lose the cash he'd already paid.

The Federal Reserve set the rules for margin trading. But the various stock exchanges have their own rules, in addition, which member brokers must obey. (The New York Stock Exchange requires at least a $1,000 deposit before a margin account can be opened.)

And many individual brokerage firms impose even stricter margin rules than the minimum set by Fed and the exchanges.

Many brokerage houses require high credit ratings before allowing new traders to set up margin accounts. Also, many won't permit margin trading in the lowest priced stocks—those dear to the heart of the novice speculator. And most will call for more cash well before the stock's price has fallen below the cut-off level the Federal Reserve rules set.

Brokers say most margin accounts are active ones. That is, credit is most often used by in-and-out traders who buy and sell frequently. Only a small amount of inactive accounts by stock investors are on a margin basis. Most of the investor type trading is strictly a cash proposition with the stocks going into bank boxes until the investor decides they should be sold—for cash.

But even those who never buy on margin watch the Fed's change in rules closely. Rightly or wrongly, they feel that margins are dropped when it is felt that more stock buying would help the economy. And when margin traders buy more stock with their increased credit, the prices tend to go up.

The history of margin changes, however, doesn't always bear this out. Often when margins have been dropped, stock prices have risen only temporarily and if a bear market was already in progress, it has continued after a short upward spurt.

In the same way, hiking margins to chill speculative fever has not always worked either. Often prices have continued to rise, after a few days of indecision.

Soil Conservation Group Marks 20th Anniversary

LISBON — The Columbiana County Soil Conservation District is celebrating almost 20 years of service in the county.

Formation of the district was part of a program of erosion control and soil conservation. The organization was sponsored by the Rural Planning Committee, of which W. J. Hays of Hanover Township was chairman. Floyd Lower, county extension agent, assisted with the formation.

A referendum was held on April 24, 1942, with one voting place per township. Supervisors were elected June 26, 1942, and the first board of supervisors meeting was held in the extension office July 14, 1942.

The first district office was on the third floor of the Courthouse, furnished by the county commissioners. Operating funds for the district were contributions made by the co-operators.

Hays was elected chairman of the board, with Lloyd Farmer as vice chairman, and Lloyd Walton, secretary-treasurer. R. W. Armstrong and Kim Crawford were members of the board. Plan No. 1 was issued to Cecil Brogan of West Township, covering 136 acres.

Under an agreement with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, technicians assisted the district with the actual application. Earl Shade was the first district conservationist, John Baker was the first farm planner and was with the district until 1945. James Pendry, who was a farm planner, then became district conservationist. Herman Reuter was farm planner and in 1945 became work unit conservationist.

In April 1951, the office moved from the Courthouse to offices above the Farmers National Bank. In May 1958, it moved to its present location in the Ray Lewis Building, 517 E. Washington St.

The present board is Dawson Irey, chairman; Jim Ewing, vice chairman; Arthur Rudebock, treasurer; Richard Dunn, secretary, and Walter Coie, reporter. Present technicians include Reuter, work unit conservationist; Earl W. Cope, conservation aid, and Heber D. Lessig and William F. Hale, soil scientists. Mrs. Phyllis Rupp is district clerk.

The following practices have been applied since the origin: Conservation cropping system, 37,651 acres; contour farming, 1,793 acres; cover and green manure, 1,185 acres; diversion, 296,208 feet; farm pond built, 161; fishpond stocking, 88.

Grassed waterways, 109 acres; hayland planting, 122 acres; pasture and hayland renovations, 6,547; mains and laterals, 298,006 feet; plow planting, 265 acres.

Spring developments, 34; contour strip cropping, 26,685 acres; field strip cropping, 317 acres; tile drains, 758,967 feet; tree planting, 2,122 acres; wildlife habitat development, 1,499 acres; windbreaks, 648 acres, and woodland harvest cutting, 5,852 acres.

There are 866 active plans, with 806 basic farm plans written.

550 Reported At Work

East Germans Toil Day, Night To Strengthen Wall

BERLIN (AP) — Hundreds of East Germans are toiling day and night to strengthen the Communist barricade of concrete and iron around West Berlin.

West Berlin police counted at least 550 at work in Tuesday's hot sun. They continued laboring after dark under the glare of floodlights.

As armed guards watched, they hauled up concrete slabs, strung barbed wire and cut back foliage to clear fields for fire of machine guns.

Unseen from the West, hundreds more were believed at work in plants producing concrete blocks and operating a giant supply line of material for the ever-growing barricades.

The work has gone on with little letup since the wall was begun last Aug. 13. In recent weeks it has been intensified.

Western Allied sources speculated the feverish effort has three possible aims:

1. To make it even more difficult for would-be refugees to get near the border or force their way through the defenses.

2. To bolster morale of the border guards. At least two have been killed and another wounded in gun battles with the West Berlin police. Others have been shot in fights with escapees. West German authorities say 332 guards deserted to the West in the past six months.

3. To head off a possible mass breakout on the Aug. 13 anniversary of the wall. On June 17, anniversary of the abortive 1953 East German revolt against communism, there was an attempted mass break, the Reds reported.

Ohio Man Is Killed In Car-Truck Crash

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Carmon O. Allen, 47, of near Circleville, was killed today in a collision of his automobile and a pickup truck on U.S. 22, two miles west of Amanda.

Allen's car and the truck driven by Billy Butler, 32, of Newport, Ky., burst into flames after the headon crash on a curve. Allen died at the scene. Butler was treated at Lancaster-Fairfield Hospital for first and second degree burns.

Boy Suffers Burns

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Jerry Weathers, 3, was in critical condition today at Middletown Hospital from burns suffered in the back yard of his home. Police said gasoline was apparently used to start a fire in a trash burner and the child's clothing caught fire Tuesday night.

Franklin Warned Of Spectacular Series Of Fires

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Army demolition specialists have notified Franklin Countians that several spectacular fires will be set off in Westerville, north of here, during the next six weeks. The first is scheduled tonight.

The scene will be eight acres of land owned by Otterbein College, part of a 110-acre tract given the school by the defunct Kilgore Manufacturing Co.

Virgil Carpenter, civilian in charge of the U.S. Army demolition team from the Ordnance Ammunition Center, Joliet, Ill., which will do the job, explained that explosives and inflammable items were found discarded in trenches.

Kilgore made fireworks, caps for toy guns and other explosives. Rejects, Otterbein discovered, were dumped in the field.

With magnesium grenades, flares and other products involved, Carpenter said the fires will be more spectacle than nuisance, with the chemicals making colorful fires. He said he expects some small explosions, but assured that that they will be of no danger to residents of the area.

Dear Heloise: Your tip on shoe polish for a bleach spot on a dark dress prompted me to try dyeing tan soiled canvas shoes with shoe polish. They are a nice charcoal now. Scotch tape easily masked the white soles.

DOROTHY

Sterling Idea

DEAR HELOISE: I have some sterling silver cuff links. Please give us the quickest, shortest answer you can on the best way to clean them. And listen, we don't want to go out and buy a bunch of silver cleaner. We will be most appreciative. Rush answer as soon as possible!

JIM WEATHERBEE

If you had enclosed your phone number, I probably would have called you collect! I live in Hawaii, or did you know that?

However, I have the exact answer all you bachelors are looking for. All you have to do is take the cuff link and hold it between your fingers. Rub the cuff link on any piece of wool clothing or a broadloom carpet.

In case you do not have carpets on your floor, turn up the cuff of your wool trousers. Rub the cuff links across the wool briskly four or five times. It will shine like new and will not remove the oxidation! Now . . . if you've got any more troubles, write to Heloise, (I'm always here) in care of The Review!

HELOISE

Wonder Worker

DEAR HELOISE: Buy some dishwasher detergent and keep this on hand even though you have no dishwasher. Sprinkle a little bit of this into your burnt-on casserole dishes. Cleans effortlessly! Let soak a while, pour the water out, wash as usual.

MADELYN FEILER

Sure does! How did you discover it? Thanks!

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint I would like to pass on. If extra large wrapping paper is needed for a large package, buy a paper table cloth for the occasion, whether it be birthday, Christmas or shower. This makes a nice package.

MRS. BEENDERS

A Puzzler

DEAR HELOISE: How does one wash and iron corduroy — if one has no dryer? I have tried all ways. My corduroys look awful after laundering. They never seem to look soft and velvety the way they do when new.

MRS. W.

Anyone know? If so tell us how. Write to Heloise in care of The Review. We sure will be grateful. Letters do not have to be signed to appear.

HELOISE

Thanks For Tip

DEAR HELOISE: I started to clean my venetian blinds the other day and discovered I had no commercial cleaner. So I put some soap in hot water in the dishpan and a little kerosene. Honestly, I have never had such wonderful results. I have never had such clean blinds with so much ease and lack of elbow grease. Thanks for making this housework easier.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieter Proves Happy With Progress

A familiar line appears frequently in the letters, to this effect: "The writer of the letter in yesterday's column could have been myself — except that I haven't made the grade yet." In short, a reducer's story is often so closely allied with your own experience that as you read her story you can put yourself in her place. Good! This picturing can prod you into action. Read on...

Ida Jean Kain

"I would like to tell other overweights that no matter how much overweight you are it will eventually come off — if you want to get it off.

"After my second child was born I started putting on weight, an average of ten pounds a year. Ten years later I was 105 pounds overweight! Everytime I weighed I'd say to myself, 'That's not bad, only a couple of pounds more than last time — I'll take it off next week.'

"MY SCALE GOES to 250 pounds and one day I got on and it wouldn't weigh me. Using the little knob on the front I turned it back 5 pounds and I weighed 253. Later I would turn the knob back 10 pounds.

"Then one day I got on the scales, set 10 pounds below zero and it wouldn't weigh me! That was the shock I needed. I went to the doctor and weighed in at 270 pounds. At 35 years of age, I was 105 pounds overweight, had high blood pressure, was short of breath and a nervous wreck.

"The diet the doctor put me on allowed for more food than I was eating — I thought. What he stressed the most was 'Don't eat between meals.' I know what my poor husband thought...here she goes again, another diet!

"But I cooked the way I always had, I just took smaller portions. I took out the vegetables I wanted before I seasoned the rest. I stopped all between-meal eating.

"I started this way of eating on February 20th of this year. I am now (June 4th) 48 pounds lighter. I realize that the next 50 pounds won't come off as fast as the first 50. But I say to myself, 'Only 55 pounds to go!' After all, when I started it was over 100 pounds to go.

"I think my husband knows I'll do it this time. The other day he promised me the most beautiful outfit ever when I get to 165 pounds. My most rewarding day came a couple of weeks ago when my youngest gave me a hug and said, 'Gee, mommie, I can get my arms clear around you!' "

NO SAD SONGS for this dieter! In her 15th week of dieting she claims she is having a ball.

Three rousing cheers. We'll at be pulling for this spirited young mother who has changed from size 30½ to a 22½...and is on her way to that coveted size 18.

Columbiana Junction Will Get New Signals

The State Highway Department plans to install new, fully traffic-actuated traffic lights this month at the junction of State Routes 7 and 14, near Columbiana, William P. McKenna, head of the Division 11 office in New Philadelphia, said today.

The Highway Department has rated the intersection "accident prone," McKenna explained. Actuated by traffic on all approaches, the signals will have larger diameter lights, he said.

Traffic crews have completed installation of a flashing warning light at the junction of State Routes 9 and 172 in New Garden, McKenna said. The signal shows an amber signal to Route 9 traffic and red lights to the approaches of Route 172.

Chester Woman Gets Ohio School Position

Mrs. Kenneth Gessford, the former Miss Vicki McHenry of Chester, will teach at Austintown, near Youngstown, starting in September.

Mrs. Gessford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McHenry of Columbia Dr., Chester, was graduated magna cum laude from West Liberty State College in June. She majored in elementary education.

While at West Liberty, she was in the Student Christian Association, member of the Student Council, Glee Club, Chi Beta Chi—science honorary — and secretary of a Spanish sorority. She was also in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Carnival Discussed By Midland Firemen

Midland volunteer fire company No. 1 met Monday night in the Borough Building and discussed its three-day carnival held July 2-4.

Tony Monaco, president, presided. He said the carnival was "successful," although one day was rained out. He thanked all members and others for their participation.

Plans were made to purchase gold badges for retired and honorary members. About 14 attended. Refreshments were served by John Zuppe, Bill Monac and Augie Matteo.

Next meeting will be Aug. 13.

AL Pilot's 'Strategy' Questioned

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Second guessers were questioning Manager Ralph Houk's early removal of his starting players in the American League's 3-1 All-Star loss to the National League and wondered today whether he would employ the same tactics in the second midsummer meeting in Chicago's Wrigley Field, Monday, July 30.

Houk's questioned strategy took place in the seventh inning Tuesday when he took Roger Maris, along with three others, out of the lineup and replaced last year's home run king with Chicago's Jim Landis, in center field.

As a result, Landis, a less distinguished long ball hitter, came to bat in the eighth with a man on base and two out. A Maris home run would have tied the game. Landis struck out.

"I thought six innings was about right for Maris," Houk explained in the losers' dressing room later. "I wanted everybody to play. After all, this is an All-Star game. They were picked from their clubs and I think they should have the opportunity to play."

Don Drysdale, the National League starter, struck out Maris in his first time at bat but the major league home run king nearly knocked the ball out of the park in each of his next two times at bat. Facing Juan Marichal in the fourth, he drove Willie Mays to the center field fence for his 400-foot drive. In the sixth, with Bob Purkey on the mound, Mays made a spectacular catch of Roger's bid for a three-run homer. Wondrous Willie crashed into the fence in deepest right center as he made the leaping catch, his glove reaching above the eight-foot fence.

Rich Rollins, who had singled and gone to third on Billy Moran's single, scampered home after the catch for the Americans' only run as Purkey tossed out Rocky Colavito and fanned Jim Gentile to escape further damage. That was the Americans' last real bid as Bob Shaw held them to one hit in the last two innings.

Mays, the defensive star of the game, shared hero honors with Stan Musial, the ageless wonder, and Maury Wills, the mercury-footed shortstop who hails from the nation's capital.

Mays didn't get a hit but he was tremendous afield. Besides his long runs to haul down blasts by Maris, he cut off a potential run with a fine play on Moran's long single to left center in the sixth, and closed the game with a catch of Luis Aparicio's smash to the fence in deep right center.

Musial, who watched Drysdale and Marichal of the Nationals and Jim Bunning and Pascual of the Americans pitch scoreless ball through five innings, came off the bench in the sixth and slashed a pinch hit single to ignite a two-run rally. It was the 20th hit in the 22nd All-Star game for the great St. Louis Cardinal, who before the game had visited President Kennedy's box behind the American League dugout and chatted with the country's No. 1 citizen for a few minutes.

"I reminded the President of our first meeting in the summer of 1960," Musial related later. "'Remember,' I told him, 'you said they thought I was too old to play ball and you were too young to run for president but that we'd both fool them. Well, I think we're both doing pretty good.'"

Wills, sent in to run for Musial, gave the American League the first taste of his famed speed by stealing second, then scored the first run of the game on Dick Groat's single. Groat advanced to second on Roberto Clemente's third hit, a single to left, reached third on Mays' fly to deep center and scored on Orlando Cepeda's infield out.

Wills was not through. The Dodger speed king who has stolen 46 bases this season, dropped a Texas League single into left off Cleveland's Dick Donovan in the eighth. When Jim Davenport singled to left, Wills tore around second. Colavito, playing left field, threw behind Wills to second base but Maury had picked up speed and continued on to third. Second baseman Bobby Richardson's throw to Brooks Robinson came a fraction of a second too late to nip the diving runner.

Still Wills was not finished. When Felipe Alou fouled out to Leon Wagner along the right field foul line, Wills tagged up and scored, sliding in under catcher John Romano's tag.

"Nobody else would have been able to score on that short fly ball," said National League Coach Johnny Keane.

Marichal, San Francisco's right-handed ace, was the winner.

The loss was charged to Pascual, who allowed four hits and two runs in his three-inning stint.

'Old' Campaigners Meet Again

President Roots For Stan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball's elder statesman, Stan Musial, triggered the winning rally for the National League in the 32nd All-Star game with a pinch-hit single.

And one of the loudest rooters for old man Musial, age 41, was young Jack Kennedy, age 45, considered possibly a little young to be President of the United States.

When he was told of the President's cheers after the game, Musial let reporters in on what he and the President talked about in their meeting just before Tuesday's game.

"When I shook hands with him before the game today," Musial said, "he was telling everybody what a good job of campaigning I did for him.

"I reminded him of the time we first met. It was in Milwaukee in the summer of 1960. As we shook hands, he said, 'They tell me you're too old to play ball and I'm too young to run for president. I have a hunch we'll both fool 'em.'

"The President remembered all right," Musial said, "and he laughed when I added, 'And I think we're both doing a good job.'"

The capacity crowd of 45,480 at D. C. Stadium gave Musial an ovation before and after the hit. The National League scored two runs in the sixth inning after Musial's pinch hit single for pitcher Juan Marichal of San Francisco and went on to win 3 to 1.

Over in the American League dressing room, Manager Ralph Houk was musing over what might have been.

Roger Maris of Houk's New York Yankees swatted a mighty drive in the sixth with two men on base that could have put his team ahead.

"That ball of Maris' was really hit," Houk said. "I thought it was going to make it."

But center fielder Willie Mays of San Francisco grabbed the ball on a great catch more than 400 feet from home, then bounced off the wire fence in deepest center field.

One run scored after the catch, but that was all for the American League in the scoring department.

Houk thought pitching was the key to the game, but added that it always is "when you get this kind of pitching. Those guys are really pitchers, on both sides."

Long Shot To Base Theft Record

Wills Convinces AL Of Fleetness

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maury Wills convinced doubting American League All-Star fans that his blinding speed is a long shot threat indeed to Ty Cobb's base stealing record.

The fleet Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop stole a base and scored the first run in Tuesday's 3-1 victory by the National League in the 32nd All-Star game and impressed one and all with his dashing base running.

When Rocky Colavito of Detroit fielded a single by Jim Davenport of San Francisco in left and threw behind Wills, apparently trapping him between second and third, Wills shifted into high gear and beat the relay to third base in the eighth. A few seconds later he sped home on a foul fly to short right field.

Casey Stengel, whose New York Mets have been made aware of Wills' speed all season long, said he wasn't surprised at all.

"He's got the move of a snake when he slides" said 72-year-old Case, who spent the day on his feet, coaching at first base.

When a reporter asked Wills why he would risk injury with headlong play in a game that didn't count in the pennant race, he said:

"I don't think they would have asked me to play if they didn't think I'd go all out."

Wills made the big time only after Detroit, aching for a shortstop, passed him up and returned him to the Dodger chain in 1959. He came up to stay and starred with the pennant-bound Dodgers later in '59 and led the league with 50 stolen bases in 1960 and 35 in 1961.

Wills has stolen 46 bases for the league - leading Dodgers in 89 games. With 73 games to go, he is at least a long shot threat to break Cobb's modern major league mark of 96 set in 1915. He has a good chance to topping the National League mark of 80 set by Cincinnati's Bob Bescher in 1911.

Roger's Takes Lead In Series; Flannigan Stars

Roger's Drive-In made its opening bid for the American Division pennant of the Little Minor League an impressive one Tuesday night at Farrell Field.

With Steve Flannigan twirling a one-hit shutout, Roger's went one-up in the best of three game series for the American Division pennant with a 4-0 triumph.

The playoff continues tonight, and also Friday, if necessary. The winner will ultimately oppose Taylor, Smith & Taylor later this month for the league crown. TS &T won the National Division.

Flannigan missed a no-hitter by a whisker. The spoiler was a base hit in the last of the sixth inning by Jim Frye of Knowles. The youngster fanned eight over the route.

Starring for the winners, who collected eight hits in the game, were Joe March, with three base hits and two runs, and Ricky Watson who also had three hits and drove in a pair of runs.

Clutter was the losing pitcher. He allowed Rogers a run in the first inning, and three more in the fifth.

64 Qualifiers Tee Off In Publinx Tourney

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A field of 64 qualifiers, led by medalist George Archer, 22, of San Francisco, paired off today for the opening round of match play in the U. S. Public Links golf tournament.

Archer fired a one-over-par 72 Tuesday for a 36-hole total of 145 on the Sheridan Park course.

Lalu Sabotin, an ex-prizefighter from Warren, Ohio, followed Archer by one stroke with a pair of 73s. Sabotin was among the leaders both Monday and Tuesday as winds and changeable weather on the tricky 6,697-yard layout sent scores soaring.

U.S.-Australia Battle Predicted

Palmer 2-1 Favorite In British Open

By TOM REEDY

TROON, Scotland (AP) — The 1962 British Open championship, one of the real prizes of golf, opened today in an atmosphere suggesting it was a match between the United States and Australia.

With the ever dangerous qualifying rounds behind them, the big belters of modern golf took on Old Troon's 7,045-yard, par 72 layout in search of glory which by American standards is about all they get out of it.

First prize is only 1,400 pounds —$3,920—but as defending champion Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., said: "You can break even on expenses but the point is this is a matter of prestige. That is why I come here, and my wife and I also enjoy the trip."

Palmer led a contingent of eight Americans into the championship as a 2-1 favorite to retain the crown he won last year at Birkdale in England. But he knew full well he had to contend with Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., who qualified with 142 against Palmer's 143, old Sam Snead, U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus and Gene Littler, the San Diego, Calif. star who won the U.S. Open a year ago.

Palmer and his American buddies were also looking over their shoulders at the Australians.

They were Kel Nagle, who won the 1960 title at St. Andrews, beating Palmer by one shot, Bruce Devlin, an amateur turned professional who was the key to Australia's defeat of the United States in the Eisenhower World Cup play at St. Andrews in 1959, and the reliable Peter Thomson, four times British Open king.

Nagle served notice in the qualifying rounds he is to be reckoned with by breaking the Lochgreen course record with a 65 and tacking on a 76 at Troon for 141. Thomson just coasted around in 70-73—143 which was as good as Palmer. Devlin posted 72-68—140.

Perhaps one of the most dangerous of all was Gary Player of South Africa. He settled for 71-76 —147 in the qualifying.

After today's 18 holes and Thursday's repeat, the field of 119 qualifiers will be reduced to the low 50. They go the final 36-hole route Friday.

Dental Nine Nips Florists

Coming from behind with two runs in the fifth inning, the Dental Society went on to conquer Riverview Florists, 8-7, in the Colt League Tuesday night.

It was a night for the hitters, with the Dental Society collecting nine, and the losers, 10.

Welch was on the mound for the Dental Society but made his presence felt most at the plate where he smashed three extra-base hits and scored three runs. Maltarich had two hits, including a double. Prentice, left fielder for the Dentists, stole two bases and scored two runs.

Dave Williams went three-for-four for Riverview, with one hit a triple. Agnew was the losing pitcher.

Thursday's game brings together unbeaten Central Service and the Lawyers, a loser only once in the second half of action.

Will OSU Star Play?

Lucas NBA's Big Riddle

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The big riddle in the National Basketball Association today was: Will All-America Jerry Lucas stick with the Cleveland Pipers, the newest entrant in the league?

"I spoke with him Monday," said George Steinbrenner, principal stockholder of the Pipers, "and he agreed to play in the NBA. We are working out details now so he can continue his education.

"I think Jerry realizes now there is not much difference between the 80 games in the NBA and the 72 he would have played in the American Basketball League."

But Lucas, who is attending summer sessions at Ohio State, said: "We haven't come to any agreement. I really don't know what I'm going to do. I just don't have a contract to play in the NBA."

He said that if he does decide to play in the NBA, he will want a raise over his two-year, $60,000 contract.

It appears obvious that the Pipers, champions of the ABL, would not have been taken in Tuesday as the tenth team in the NBA if they could not promise that Lucas would play for them.

Lucas previously had objected strenuously to the long NBA season and gave it as one of his main reasons for casting his lot with the ABL.

The Piper move sounded the death knell for the ABL, which was in business just one season. There was talk of getting started again in 1963-64, but that is a long way ahead.

ABL attorney Allan Bloch conceded that the Pipers' entry into the NBA, plus San Francisco's withdrawal from the ABL last week finished the fledgling league.

The Pipers reportedly had to fork up $300,000 to the NBA for the franchise, plus another $100,000 performance bond. Presumably, the Cincinnati Royals would get the biggest chunk of the $300,000 to salve their wounds for having lost Lucas, their No. 1 draft choice, to the Pipers.

Deadline Slated On Sunday For Tennis Entries

Entries are expected from throughout the tri-state area for the third annual Junior Tennis Tournament to be sponsored by the Lions Club July 20-22 at Thompson Park.

Deadline for registration in the tournament is Sunday at 6 p. m. Laurin Stacey and Ed Sheets, club committee, have announced. The competition is for players 18 and younger.

Entries are due from players at Salem, Youngstown, Beaver Falls, Beaver and elsewhere, including several local players Stacey said.

A new singles champion will be crowned, because Roy Pasacic of Youngstown, winner of the 1961 event, is out of the junior bracket and is competing in the senior division.

Competition will be in singles play, with doubles held if sufficient entries. Trophies will be awarded the winner and runner-up, with medals to finalists Stacey said.

Millirons Win, 7-3; Title Game's Tonight

Winner of the American Division pennant of the Little League will be decided tonight at 6 at Hilbert Field between Millirons and Golden Star Dairy.

The victorious squad will earn the right to battle McBurney's—National Division winner—for the East Liverpool LL title.

In the second game of a best of three series for the American League title Tuesday, Milliron's remained alive with a 7-3 victory over the Dairymen.

Golden Star had won the series opener on Monday with a 5-4 win, behind Dennis Klembara's three-hitter.

Squaring the series for Millirons was Rick Talbott, who held Golden Star to four hits and won despite six errors by his squad. Bob Bartram was behind the plate. Talbott fanned four.

Dennis Klembara was again on the mound for Golden Star and fanned six while yielding nine hits. Bill Montgomery was his battery mate.

Banging two singles each for Millirons were Dan Cunningham and Kim Kemple, while Talbott and Mike Caruso doubled.

Jim Burcham hit two singles and Bill Montgomery, a double, for Golden Star.

The first stakes victory for retired jockey Eddie Arcaro came early in 1933 at the New Orleans Fair Grounds.

1961 Finalists In Ohio Women's Golf Meet Today

CLEVELAND (AP)—Judy Rand of Aurora and Kathy Newton of Cleveland, finalists in the Ohio Women's Amateur Golf Tournament last year, meet today in the second round of match play for the 1962 title.

Miss Rand, who defeated Miss Newton in Cincinnati for the 1961 crown, advanced Tuesday by beating Mrs. Harold Artz of Akron, 2 and 1, in the opening round over the par 75 Kirtland Country Club course. Miss Newton eliminated Mrs. Morris Stroud of Kirtland, 7 and 5.

Donna Kosar of Cuyahoga Falls, who won medalist honors with a 74 in Monday's qualifier, advanced to the second round with a 6 and 4 victory over Mrs. Hugh O'Neill of Shaker Heights.

Ex-Potter Grid Stars Renew Acquaintances

Bernie Allen and two ex-Potter teammates renewed acquaintances last week while the Minnesota Twins were in Boston for a series with the Red Sox at Fenway Park.

Accompanied by Rich Rollins, Twins' third sacker, Allen got together with Dan Ogilvie and Bill Ashbaugh at Ogilvie's home in Cambridge, Mass. The trio played together on one of East Liverpool High's strongest football teams.

Ogilvie is studying at Harvard University. Ashbaugh lives in Bennington, Vt. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ashbaugh of Calcutta, who returned Tuesday after a visit with their son.

U.S.-Australia Battle Predicted

By TOM REEDY

TROON, Scotland (AP) — The 1962 British Open championship, one of the real prizes of golf, opened today in an atmosphere suggesting it was a match between the United States and Australia.

With the ever dangerous qualifying rounds behind them, the big belters of modern golf took on Old Troon's 7,045-yard, par 72 layout in search of glory which by American standards is about all they get out of it.

First prize is only 1,400 pounds —$3,920—but as defending champion Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., said: "You can break even on expenses but the point is this is a matter of prestige. That is why I come here, and my wife and I also enjoy the trip."

Palmer led a contingent of eight Americans into the championship as a 2-1 favorite to retain the crown he won last year at Birkdale in England. But he knew full well he had to contend with Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., who qualified with 142 against Palmer's 143, old Sam Snead, U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus and Gene Littler, the San Diego, Calif. star who won the U.S. Open a year ago.

Palmer and his American buddies were also looking over their shoulders at the Australians.

They were Kel Nagle, who won the 1960 title at St. Andrews, beating Palmer by one shot, Bruce Devlin, an amateur turned professional who was the key to Australia's defeat of the United States in the Eisenhower World Cup play at St. Andrews in 1959, and the reliable Peter Thomson, four times British Open king.

Nagle served notice in the qualifying rounds he is to be reckoned with by breaking the Lochgreen course record with a 65 and tacking on a 76 at Troon for 141. Thomson just coasted around in 70-73—143 which was as good as Palmer. Devlin posted 72-68—140.

Perhaps one of the most dangerous of all was Gary Player of South Africa. He settled for 71-76 —147 in the qualifying.

After today's 18 holes and Thursday's repeat, the field of 119 qualifiers will be reduced to the low 50. They go the final 36-hole route Friday.

Dental Nine Nips Florists

Coming from behind with two runs in the fifth inning, the Dental Society went on to conquer Riverview Florists, 8-7, in the Colt League Tuesday night.

It was a night for the hitters, with the Dental Society collecting nine, and the losers, 10.

Welch was on the mound for the Dental Society but made his presence felt most at the plate where he smashed three extra-base hits and scored three runs. Maltarich had two hits, including a double. Prentice, left fielder for the Dentists, stole two bases and scored two runs.

Dave Williams went three-for-four for Riverview, with one hit a triple. Agnew was the losing pitcher.

Thursday's game brings together unbeaten Central Service and the Lawyers, a loser only once in the second half of action.

I also suggest using a small crippled minnow lure. When the bass makes a pass at the minnows, they all try to jump away except the "crippled" one. And something the bass does not know is that the crippled one has the hooks in it.

THERE HAS been column after column in the various newspapers in the state of Ohio about people picking up wild animals, then calling the game protector for a permit to keep it.

Can't people understand that a game protector cannot issue a permit to any person to keep a baby animal taken out of season? Raccoon is the number one target, followed by baby skunks.

In my opinion, the worst violator is the "skunk-napper".

He grabs a baby skunk and then tries to find a person foolish enough to de-scent the animal when the 'napper cannot produce a permit. In case the animal has been de-scented, it could be trouble for both parties, the one taking the animal illegally and the one doing the operating. What good is a skunk in the wilds when its only weapon of defense has been removed? A good pet, of course, but it can get you in a lot of trouble.

THE DRY weather we have experienced since spring might not be good for the underground water supply, plus many other farm problems.

At the same time, the first crop of rabbits came through in good shape. This is the most important crop because the female of the first litter bear young about September. In other words, if a litter of six happens to be three females, then from this progeny 12 more babies are produced, which means the original mother rabbit actually caused 15 more bunnies on the production line when hunting season comes along.

Gunshot Wounds Fatal To Famed Car Race Driver

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—Tommy Milton, 68, a top-ranked star of auto racing's Hall of Fame, died Tuesday of two gunshot wounds after arranging his own funeral, his brother said.

Homer Milton, who lived with his famous brother in a $100,000 home at the mouth of the Clinton River, said Tommy's health had been failing since a heart attack several months ago.

The coroner, Dr. Harold Brockman, termed the case a "probable suicide" and said the gunshot wounds were the cause of death. He said a final determination would be made after an investigation by the Macomb County sheriff's office.

Sheriff's detective Lee Eschenburg called the death an "apparent suicide," but said it would be kept under investigation until details could be explained.

Hoosier Topples Cup Team Player In Women's Golf

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Hoosier Julie Hull, who will become a Texan this fall, was thinking big already today in the 62nd Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament, where she eliminated Curtis Cup team member Phyllis Preuss in the first round Tuesday 3 and 2.

There was nothing to indicate, however, that Miss Hull, a recent Purdue graduate from Anderson, Ind., nor any other survivors would be able to stop little Clifford Ann Creed.

The 22-year-old Miss Hull, who plans to teach physical education in Dallas, gained her upset over Miss Preuss, Boca Raton, Fla., by shooting par 39 on the front nine.

Meanwhile Miss Creed, another Curtis Cup team member from Alexandria, La., improved on the course-record 75 that won her the qualifying medal. She shot a 72 in beating veteran Mrs. Ruth White Miller of Whittier, Calif., 5 and 4.

Jerry Kindall, acquired last winter by Cleveland from the Chicago Cubs, was Big Ten batting and home run champion for Minnesota in 1956.

Architect Sets Pace In Amateur Qualifier

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Architect Dan Carmichael of Columbus held a two-stroke edge today as the biggest field in the event's history went into the second round of the qualifier for the 56th Ohio Amateur golf championship.

The 43-year-old onetime Princeton basketball captain and World War II naval air ace fired a three-under-par 68 in Tuesday's opening round to lead Dr. Harry Duccilli of Wyoming by two strokes. Duccilli, a 38-year-old baby specialist, was runnerup for the 1959 championship, and Carmichael won the 1960 title.

Old Man Par—he's 71—more than held his own against the big field which included 16 public links players. Only Carmichael and Duccilli were able to break par. Matching the card's 71 were Joe Miller Jr. of Hamilton and William Wheeler of Dayton.

The rest of the field of 246 players soared as high as 94. With 63 qualifiers due to join defending champion Walter Stahl in match play starting Thursday, indications were that a score of 155 would make the grade.

Only five players scored 72s. They included such standouts as Tony Blom Jr. of Cincinnati, the 1959 champion, and Don Stickney of Columbus, the Ohio Stater who defeated Jack Nicklaus in the latter's fifth futile bid in this fixture several years ago.

Also in the 72 bracket were William Cowgill of Wilmington, William Harding of Salem and Jim Kennedy of Shelby.

Name golfers had varying degrees of success. Stahl shot a 74. Last year's medalist, Robert Seyler of Mansfield, had a 73. So did Bobby Littler of Athens, 1962 Ohio junior champion.

Darkness prevented five players from finishing Tuesday's round, and they had early starting times today to finish the opening session.

The Ohio Golf Association's board of governors awarded the 1963 Amateur to Elyria Country Club, the Seniors championship to Scioto Country Club of Columbus and the Presenior tournament to Zanesville Country Club.

2 City Golfers Trail In Amateur Qualifier

Two local golfers—Bob Putt, high school star, and Dr. Arthur Cloran—carded 76 and 84, respectively, in the first round of the Ohio Amateur Golf tournament qualifier Tuesday at Dayton. Putt was eight strokes off the leading pace while Cloran was 16.

Close Games Mark Slow Pitch Frays

Two close games marked action in the Slow Pitch League Tuesday night at Thompson Park.

Klondyke hung in third place with an 8-6 triumph over Finishing Mill, and Ridge Runners edged the last-place Flunkies, 8-7.

Chuck Adams pitched for Klondyke, besting R. Booher. Augie Comfort led the winners with four hits in four trips, while Bennett duplicated the feat for Finishing Mill.

Chuck Bolton won for Ridge Runners, with Dan Banfield the losers. Loren Griffin hit two triples and Schwartz went 3-for-3 for Ridge Runners. Bob Boyer, Earl Olmstead and Bob Mercer had three hits for the losers.

In Monday's games, American Billiards whipped Dresden A. C., 4-3, and the Collegians downed East End, 16-8.

American Billiards won as John Fisher bunted in the deciding run with the bases loaded in the last of the seventh. Frannie Wise was the winning pitcher, besting Jerry Baker. Bob Johnson went two for two for winners, and Eskins had two hits for Dresden.

The Collegians, formerly K. of C., won the third game behind pitcher Jim Clunk. Ron Garland homered and tripled, and Charlie Davidson had four hits for the Collegians. John Douglas was the losing pitcher. Ed Pack had four hits and Jim Richardson, three, for East End.

Casper Rates Favorite In Detroit Golf

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Casper Jr., in the absence of many of golf's touring elite, rates as the favorite of the 11th Motor City Open that starts Thursday.

Casper's long drives are designed to tear par apart on the Knollwood Country Club course in suburban Birmingham. Par is 36-35—71 on the 6,879-yard layout.

But the big reason Casper is the pre-tournament choice is he'll have little top drawer opposition. He's the only one of the year's top five money winners who's entered in the 72-hole, $35,000 event. The other stars—Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—are in Scotland for the British Open.

Casper is No. 3 on the PGA earnings list, behind Palmer and Littler. The rotund player from Apple Valley, Calif., has three tournament victories in 1962 and has been in the top five money in 10 of his 18 tournaments. Casper has earned $50,458 this year.

Four others among the 10 top money winners will be in the Motor City along with Casper. They are Bob Nichols, Doug Sanders, Bob Goalby and Dow Finsterwald.

Also entered is Bill Collins, winner of the Flint Open last weekend.

The Motor City will start with a field of 144 pros and 12 amateurs. The field will be cut to the low 60 and ties after 36 holes Friday.

Hoosier Topples Cup Team Player In Women's Golf

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Hoosier Julie Hull, who will become a Texan this fall, was thinking big already today in the 62nd Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament, where she eliminated Curtis Cup team member Phyllis Preuss in the first round Tuesday 3 and 2.

There was nothing to indicate, however, that Miss Hull, a recent Purdue graduate from Anderson, Ind., nor any other survivors would be able to stop little Clifford Ann Creed.

The 22-year-old Miss Hull, who plans to teach physical education in Dallas, gained her upset over Miss Preuss, Boca Raton, Fla., by shooting par 39 on the front nine.

Meanwhile Miss Creed, another Curtis Cup team member from Alexandria, La., improved on the course-record 75 that won her the qualifying medal. She shot a 72 in beating veteran Mrs. Ruth White Miller of Whittier, Calif., 5 and 4.

Jerry Kindall, acquired last winter by Cleveland from the Chicago Cubs, was Big Ten batting and home run champion for Minnesota in 1956.

Architect Sets Pace In Amateur Qualifier

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Architect Dan Carmichael of Columbus held a two-stroke edge today as the biggest field in the event's history went into the second round of the qualifier for the 56th Ohio Amateur golf championship.

The 43-year-old onetime Princeton basketball captain and World War II naval air ace fired a three-under-par 68 in Tuesday's opening round to lead Dr. Harry Duccilli of Wyoming by two strokes. Duccilli, a 38-year-old baby specialist, was runnerup for the 1959 championship, and Carmichael won the 1960 title.

Old Man Par—he's 71—more than held his own against the big field which included 16 public links players. Only Carmichael and Duccilli were able to break par. Matching the card's 71 were Joe Miller Jr. of Hamilton and William Wheeler of Dayton.

The rest of the field of 246 players soared as high as 94. With 63 qualifiers due to join defending champion Walter Stahl in match play starting Thursday, indications were that a score of 155 would make the grade.

Only five players scored 72s. They included such standouts as Tony Blom Jr. of Cincinnati, the 1959 champion, and Don Stickney of Columbus, the Ohio Stater who defeated Jack Nicklaus in the latter's fifth futile bid in this fixture several years ago.

Also in the 72 bracket were William Cowgill of Wilmington, William Harding of Salem and Jim Kennedy of Shelby.

Name golfers had varying degrees of success. Stahl shot a 74. Last year's medalist, Robert Seyler of Mansfield, had a 73. So did Bobby Littler of Athens, 1962 Ohio junior champion.

Darkness prevented five players from finishing Tuesday's round, and they had early starting times today to finish the opening session.

The Ohio Golf Association's board of governors awarded the 1963 Amateur to Elyria Country Club, the Seniors championship to Scioto Country Club of Columbus and the Presenior tournament to Zanesville Country Club.

2 City Golfers Trail In Amateur Qualifier

Two local golfers—Bob Putt, high school star, and Dr. Arthur Cloran—carded 76 and 84, respectively, in the first round of the Ohio Amateur Golf tournament qualifier Tuesday at Dayton. Putt was eight strokes off the leading pace while Cloran was 16.

Close Games Mark Slow Pitch Frays

Two close games marked action in the Slow Pitch League Tuesday night at Thompson Park.

Klondyke hung in third place with an 8-6 triumph over Finishing Mill, and Ridge Runners edged the last-place Flunkies, 8-7.

Chuck Adams pitched for Klondyke, besting R. Booher. Augie Comfort led the winners with four hits in four trips, while Bennett duplicated the feat for Finishing Mill.

Chuck Bolton won for Ridge Runners, with Dan Banfield the losers. Loren Griffin hit two triples and Schwartz went 3-for-3 for Ridge Runners. Bob Boyer, Earl Olmstead and Bob Mercer had three hits for the losers.

In Monday's games, American Billiards whipped Dresden A. C., 4-3, and the Collegians downed East End, 16-8.

American Billiards won as John Fisher bunted in the deciding run with the bases loaded in the last of the seventh. Frannie Wise was the winning pitcher, besting Jerry Baker. Bob Johnson went two for two for winners, and Eskins had two hits for Dresden.

The Collegians, formerly K. of C., won the third game behind pitcher Jim Clunk. Ron Garland homered and tripled, and Charlie Davidson had four hits for the Collegians. John Douglas was the losing pitcher. Ed Pack had four hits and Jim Richardson, three, for East End.

Ohioan Advances

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Hamilton, Ohio's Mrs. Barbara Fitton moved into today's second round match play in the Women's Western Amateur Golf Championship with a 2 and 1 triumph over Linda Lewis of Killen, Ala., Tuesday. Mrs. Fitton was scheduled to oppose Doris Phillips of St. Louis today with a quarterfinals berth at stake.

Ohioan Eliminated

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Sue Gerber of Middletown, Ohio, has been eliminated from title contention in the women's singles of the Western Amateur Tennis Tournament. Julie Heldman of New York City, winner of last week's Tri - State tourney at Cincinnati and seeded No. 2 here, downed Sue in a first round match Tuesday, 6-2, 8-6.

2 Close Games, One Rout Feature Hot Stove Loop

In the senior circuit of the South Side Hot Stove League Tuesday, Georgetown - Shippingport beat Lawrenceville, 1-0, in eight innings, Hanover Township won over Hookstown, 10-9, and Newell defeated Frankfort Springs, 8-2.

In the eight inning game played at Georgetown, Dave Trimble pitched seven innings for Georgetown - Shippingport, giving up only one hit and striking out 15 batters. Bill Wright pitched 7 innings for Lawrenceville, giving up only two hits and striking out 14 batters.

Since pitchers are allowed to pitch only seven innings, John Allison relieved Trimble and Don Brown came in for Wright. Georgetown scored a run in the 8th to win.

Andy Reese was the winning pitcher and Paul Verzella the losing pitcher in the Hanover Township - Hookstown game played at Hanover Township. Earl Anderson of Hookstown led all batters with 3 hits in four trips.

In the Newell - Frankfort Springs game, Bill Raimond won for Newell, giving up only three hits and striking out 16 batters. Butch Crago was the losing pitcher for Frankfort Springs.

Charley Metro, coach in charge of the Chicago Cubs, managed nine different minor league teams. He managed Denver in 1961.

Casper Rates Favorite In Detroit Golf

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Casper Jr., in the absence of many of golf's touring elite, rates as the favorite of the 11th Motor City Open that starts Thursday.

Casper's long drives are designed to tear par apart on the Knollwood Country Club course in suburban Birmingham. Par is 36-35—71 on the 6,879-yard layout.

But the big reason Casper is the pre-tournament choice is he'll have little top drawer opposition. He's the only one of the year's top five money winners who's entered in the 72-hole, $35,000 event. The other stars—Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—are in Scotland for the British Open.

Casper is No. 3 on the PGA earnings list, behind Palmer and Littler. The rotund player from Apple Valley, Calif., has three tournament victories in 1962 and has been in the top five money in 10 of his 18 tournaments. Casper has earned $50,458 this year.

Four others among the 10 top money winners will be in the Motor City along with Casper. They are Bob Nichols, Doug Sanders, Bob Goalby and Dow Finsterwald.

Also entered is Bill Collins, winner of the Flint Open last weekend.

The Motor City will start with a field of 144 pros and 12 amateurs. The field will be cut to the low 60 and ties after 36 holes Friday.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Mother Confirms Theory On Sleep

Despite my explaining over and over in this column some simple ways of guiding and managing little children in certain everyday situations, most letters I receive from parents describe problems with these matters. Now and then a mother writes that some advice of mine won't work." But an increasing number of mothers are writing to say it has worked, reporting how it worked. For example, here is a letter from a New York State mother: "I was absolutely delighted to read your article, 'Child Needs Sleep'. I am in complete agreement with you.

"MY BABIES were 15 months apart, and everything happened exactly as you described. They were easily trained to sleep. They soon learned what was expected of them when they awakened in the morning. I did enforce regularity in nap and bedtimes—and it worked.

"Since I married about six years before most of my somewhat slower school chums, most of my friends' children are still in the baby and early childhood stage.

"With each one of my friends, I listened, ad infinitum, to their complaints about their children's sleeping habits — 'The baby stopped napping, and I am exhausted' or 'The baby (four years) got me up at six o'clock this morning and I'm just pooped' and 'I can't get my work done because Libby is overtired and cranky'.

"When I could listen no more, I told each in turn, 'Stop complaining! You are just too lazy to train your kids properly'.

"OF COURSE, some said that I was just lucky with mine. I have always insisted that sleeping is a habit. And I taught my babies to sleep and then they developed the habit.

"At this point, my 'babies' are 12 and 13 years old. One of our 'family secrets' is that both of them still have nine o'clock nights, two ten o'clock nights and the rest of the week, the kids go to bed at nine thirty. (I wouldn't want my name to be printed. . . My kids would have a fit if their friends found out they go to bed before eleven!!!).

"I hope that those struggling parents who read your column begin to practice your instructions. It is an effort in the beginning, but isn't it worth it? After so many opinions about demand feedings, many kinds have developed 'demand sleeping'. One thing I demand is a little time in the evenings, alone with my husband —and I get it!"

THE CHANCES are this mother would have succeeded as she did, even if she had never read my column. Her believing in it, however, may have given her moral support.

Though I have quoted from an anonymous letter, I have never used the name or address of a letter's sender without permission. Sometimes I do get such permission, but I'm sure the children of the mother I have quoted here would be humiliated in the way their mother says, if her name were printed.

Some readers may feel a little jealous of this mother. Some others will admire her for the stuff of character she used in winning success.

My bulletin "Sleep Problems with Children" may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Kennedy Prods Democratic Leaders To Spur Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP — President Kennedy is prodding Democratic leaders to get the legislative wheels turning in a party-controlled Congress engulfed in a quagmire of protocol and political bickering.

The President is reported sounding a new note of urgency as strategy conferences disclose how deep some of his major proposals have sunk in the gumbo of inaction that has marked what Republicans are calling a do-nothing session.

There are indications that Kennedy himself may seek to mediate a Senate-House dispute over their handling which has prevented final action on any of the regular money bills.

Hinting at this, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Tuesday that some drastic measures had better be taken to end a stalemate in which he said Democrats are digging their political graves.

"Every week that this goes on, you can count off a few more Democrats in the November election," he said. "The Republicans will make hay with this."

The Republicans already were busy cutting their hay.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said that "it is doubtful if any session of Congress in the history of the republic ever spent so much time accomplishing so little."

He and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana agreed in a statement that "most of the blame belongs on the Kennedy administration."

Regardless of who had to shoulder the responsibility, only a handful of major bills has become law in the more than six months of the session.

Boy, 14, Burns Feet On Hot Soot At Dump

Michael Looman, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Looman, 1547 Cleveland Ave., suffered minor burns of both feet Tuesday on hot soot at a dump of the American Vitrified Products Co., police reported.

The incident was reported to Patrolman Orin C. Smith, who was flagged down by the boy's mother, Mrs. Mary Looman, while cruising near Etruria St. and Maryland Ave. Mrs. Looman told the officer the boy walked from the dump to Etruria St., where he was given first aid by a woman who is a registered nurse.

More Sessions Due In Electric Rate Hearings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Several more sessions are in prospect before the Utilities Commission winds up its hearing begun Tuesday on the Ohio Edison Co.'s appeal from a city of Lorain electric rate ordinance.

The firm contends the ordinance Lorain enacted Nov. 16, 1959, does not provide it a reasonable rate of return for supplying power.

Otto Brunenmeister of Akron, Ohio Edison vice president, testified Tuesday that the company followed federal law explicitly in establishing its net worth for rate-making purposes.

He was replying to Robert J. White of Cincinnati, special counsel for the city of Lorain, who said Ohio Edison as it exists today is the product of numerous business mergers. Brunenmeister told the commission Ohio Edison followed all federally - specified procedures in determining the amount of money invested by predecessor companies.

White interrogated Brunenmeister at length, with Lorain City Solicitor Adrian Befleski at White's side. Frances McGovern, commission chairman, and commission member Dale Fulton conducted the hearing.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Mother Confirms Theory On Sleep

Despite my explaining over and over in this column some simple ways of guiding and managing little children in certain everyday situations, most letters I receive from parents describe problems with these matters. Now and then a mother writes that some advice of mine "won't Dr. Garry Meyers work." But an increasing number of mothers are writing to say it has worked, reporting how it worked. For example, here is a letter from a New York State mother: "I was absolutely delighted to read your article, 'Child Needs Sleep'. I am in complete agreement with you.

"MY BABIES were 15 months apart, and everything happened exactly as you described. They were easily trained to sleep. They soon learned what was expected of them when they awakened in the morning. I did enforce regularity in nap and bedtimes—and it worked.

"Since I married about six years before most of my somewhat slower school chums, most of my friends' children are still in the baby and early childhood stage.

"With each one of my friends, I listened, ad infinitum, to their complaints about their children's sleeping habits — 'The baby stopped napping, and I am exhausted' or 'The baby (four years) got me up at six o'clock this morning and I'm just pooped' and 'I can't get my work done because Libby is overtired and cranky'.

"When I could listen no more, I told each in turn, 'Stop complaining! You are just too lazy to train your kids properly'.

"OF COURSE, some said that I was just lucky with mine. I have always insisted that sleeping is a habit. And I taught my babies to sleep and then they developed the habit.

"At this point, my 'babies' are 12 and 13 years old. One of our 'family secrets' is that both of them still have nine o'clock nights, two ten o'clock nights and the rest of the week, the kids go to bed at nine thirty. (I wouldn't want my name to be printed. . . My kids would have a fit if their friends found out they go to bed before eleven!!!).

"I hope that those struggling parents who read your column begin to practice your instructions. It is an effort in the beginning, but isn't it worth it? After so many opinions about demand feedings, many kinds have developed 'demand sleeping'. One thing I demand is a little time in the evenings, alone with my husband —and I get it!"

THE CHANCES are this mother would have succeeded as she did, even if she had never read my column. Her believing in it, however, may have given her moral support.

Though I have quoted from an anonymous letter, I have never used the name or address of a letter's sender without permission. Sometimes I do get such permission, but I'm sure the children of the mother I have quoted here would be humiliated in the way their mother says, if her name were printed.

Some readers may feel a little jealous of this mother. Some others will admire her for the stuff of character she used in winning success.

My bulletin "Sleep Problems with Children" may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Kennedy Prods Democratic Leaders To Spur Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP — President Kennedy is prodding Democratic leaders to get the legislative wheels turning in a party-controlled Congress engulfed in a quagmire of protocol and political bickering.

The President is reported sounding a new note of urgency as strategy conferences disclose how deep some of his major proposals have sunk in the gumbo of inaction that has marked what Republicans are calling a do-nothing session.

There are indications that Kennedy himself may seek to mediate a Senate-House dispute over their handling which has prevented final action on any of the regular money bills.

Hinting at this, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Tuesday that some drastic measures had better be taken to end a stalemate in which he said Democrats are digging their political graves.

"Every week that this goes on, you can count off a few more Democrats in the November election," he said. "The Republicans will make hay with this."

The Republicans already were busy cutting their hay.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said that "it is doubtful if any session of Congress in the history of the republic ever spent so much time accomplishing so little."

He and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana agreed in a statement that "most of the blame belongs on the Kennedy administration."

Regardless of who had to shoulder the responsibility, only a handful of major bills has become law in the more than six months of the session.

No Cause For Concern

U.S. Heads For Year Of Reduced Crop Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation is headed for its second successive year of reduced crop production. But there is no cause for concern. Food and fiber supplies will be plentiful.

An Agriculture Department crop survey showed Tuesday that the acreage to be harvested this year will be the smallest since 1909. No estimate of the total volume of production was given, but officials said the outlook is for ample supplies of all crops.

The acreage to be harvested was forecast at 288 million acres, down 8 million acres or 3 per cent from last year. This compares with 352 million acres harvested as late as 13 years ago.

Since 1949, acreages have been declining under influence of agriculture's increasing efficiency and retirement of land under government crop control programs.

The department delayed until next month an estimate on the prospective total crop volume. Nevertheless, a smaller volume was indicated by the reduced acreage and by a department forecast that average acre yield will be somewhat below last year's high levels, although still above average.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm employment increased 7 per cent during June but was 3 per cent under that of a year ago.

Reporting this, the Agriculture Department said total employment late in June was 8,043,000 compared with 8,324,000 a year earlier. Family workers made up more than two-thirds of the farm working force this year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 25-member National Agricultural Advisory Commission may come up with some suggestions today on what the Kennedy administration should do about new farm legislation.

The commission ends a two-day closed meeting after hearing reports from government farm officials on recent House defeat of a new grain control bill and on future farm surplus prospects.

Control Methods Listed In County Battle Of Beetles

LISBON — Serious infestation of Japanese Beetles again is occuring in many areas of the county, according to Floyd Lower, county extension agent in agriculture.

Control consists of spraying with DDT on ornamental trees and shrubs at the rate of one rounded tablespoon of 50 per cent wettable power to one gallon of water. Additional applications will need to be made at 7-to-10-day intervals. DDT dust applied weekly is equally effective.

On ripening raspberries, peaches and other food crops, rotenone or Sevin may be used. Rotenone is used as a one per cent dust or as a spray consisting of two tablespoons of four per cent powder per gallon of water. Where rotenone is used, fruit may be harvested the same day it is treated. Where Sevin is used, it may be harvested two days after treatment.

For control on roses where the beetle enters opening buds, rotenone is suggested.

Japanese beetle grubs in lawns and grass areas may be controlled by using soil insecticides, except from the middle of June until the end of August, when the adults are active. The insect spends about 10 months of each year as a grub in the soil, Lower said.

Scout Groups Attend Pittsburgh Ball Game

Members of Boy Scout Troop 60 and a Cub Pack of St. Ann Catholic Church of East End attended the Pittsburgh Pirates-Philadelphia game Saturday at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh.

The youngsters were accompanied by Jesse Vallera, William Purton and George Richards, committee members.

Both groups will visit the Air Force base in Youngstown Saturday.

Scientists, Engineers Report On Gravity, Talking Device

By The Associated Press

Scientists and engineers report on gravity, Venus, and a system for talking to machines:

Gravity Theory

New studies substantiate a theory that a rotating body, such as the earth or sun, can generate gravity-like fields, a scientists reports.

Christened "spinetic" fields, they can in principle produce gravitational fields which, in turn, could be used to add to or subtract from the gravitational pull of the earth, says F. T. Fraser, a senior scientist at General Precision, Inc., Pleasantville, N.Y.

But don't look for this to produce antigravity devices to counteract the earth's gravity—the effects are too small.

The theory can qualitatively account for many effects which, so far, are explainable only through the highly complicated general theory of relativity of Einstein, Fraser adds.

While it is known that a light beam is bent when it passes near a star, there should also be a very small additional bending due to the rotation of the star, Fraser says.

The theory, he adds, can also show that even an ideal gyroscope always pointing in the direction in which it is initially set, should change its heading if transported through a gravitational field.

Venus Secrets

This summer, scientists hope two space probes will unveil some secrets of Venus, a sister planet hidden under a dense mantle of gas.

The probes will be aimed to fly close to Venus, and will be equipped to carry out a variety of experiments, says Robert Wyckoff of Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Astronautics magazine.

It is hoped the probes will radio back data on Venus' temperature, whether the planet has any magnetic fields or radiation belts, and the density of tiny meteorites between Earth and Venus. Closer to the sun than the Earth, Venus also offers an interesting chance to measure the "solar wind" or gusts of gases which apparently are shot out from the sun.

Why not talk to a machine, giving it instructions, instead of pushing buttons or flipping levers to make it work?

Studying this idea, Dr. Harry W. Mergler of Case Institute of Technology developed a technique for turning human speech into numbers or digits which can be fed into a computer. The sound is turned into an electrical voltage.

No Cause For Concern

U.S. Heads For Year Of Reduced Crop Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation is headed for its second successive year of reduced crop production. But there is no cause for concern. Food and fiber supplies will be plentiful.

An Agriculture Department crop survey showed Tuesday that the acreage to be harvested this year will be the smallest since 1909. No estimate of the total volume of production was given, but officials said the outlook is for ample supplies of all crops.

The acreage to be harvested was forecast at 288 million acres, down 8 million acres or 3 per cent from last year. This compares with 352 million acres harvested as late as 13 years ago.

Since 1949, acreages have been declining under influence of agriculture's increasing efficiency and retirement of land under government crop control programs.

The department delayed until next month an estimate on the prospective total crop volume. Nevertheless, a smaller volume was indicated by the reduced acreage and by a department forecast that average acre yield will be somewhat below last year's high levels, although still above average.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm employment increased 7 per cent during June but was 3 per cent under that of a year ago.

Reporting this, the Agriculture Department said total employment late in June was 8,043,000 compared with 8,324,000 a year earlier. Family workers made up more than two-thirds of the farm working force this year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 25-member National Agricultural Advisory Commission may come up with some suggestions today on what the Kennedy administration should do about new farm legislation.

The commission ends a two-day closed meeting after hearing reports from government farm officials on recent House defeat of a new grain control bill and on future farm surplus prospects.

Control Methods Listed In County Battle Of Beetles

LISBON — Serious infestation of Japanese Beetles again is occuring in many areas of the county, according to Floyd Lower, county extension agent in agriculture.

Control consists of spraying with DDT on ornamental trees and shrubs at the rate of one rounded tablespoon of 50 per cent wettable power to one gallon of water. Additional applications will need to be made at 7-to-10-day intervals. DDT dust applied weekly is equally effective.

On ripening raspberries, peaches and other food crops, rotenone or Sevin may be used. Rotenone is used as a one per cent dust or as a spray consisting of two tablespoons of four per cent powder per gallon of water. Where rotenone is used, fruit may be harvested the same day it is treated. Where Sevin is used, it may be harvested two days after treatment.

For control on roses where the beetle enters opening buds, rotenone is suggested.

Japanese beetle grubs in lawns and grass areas may be controlled by using soil insecticides, except from the middle of June until the end of August, when the adults are active. The insect spends about 10 months of each year as a grub in the soil, Lower said.

Scout Groups Attend Pittsburgh Ball Game

Members of Boy Scout Troop 60 and a Cub Pack of St. Ann Catholic Church of East End attended the Pittsburgh Pirates-Philadelphia game Saturday at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh.

The youngsters were accompanied by Jesse Vallera, William Purton and George Richards, committee members.

Both groups will visit the Air Force base in Youngstown Saturday.

Scientists, Engineers Report On Gravity, Talking Device

By The Associated Press

Scientists and engineers report on gravity, Venus, and a system for talking to machines:

Gravity Theory

New studies substantiate a theory that a rotating body, such as the earth or sun, can generate gravity-like fields, a scientists reports.

Christened "spinetic" fields, they can in principle produce gravitational fields which, in turn, could be used to add to or subtract from the gravitational pull of the earth, says F. T. Fraser, a senior scientist at General Precision, Inc., Pleasantville, N.Y.

But don't look for this to produce antigravity devices to counteract the earth's gravity—the effects are too small.

The theory can qualitatively account for many effects which, so far, are explainable only through the highly complicated general theory of relativity of Einstein, Fraser adds.

While it is known that a light beam is bent when it passes near a star, there should also be a very small additional bending due to the rotation of the star, Fraser says.

The theory, he adds, can also show that even an ideal gyroscope always pointing in the direction in which it is initially set, should change its heading if transported through a gravitational field.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Red Will Outlast Amateur Analysts

More sentimental psychoanalysis articles have been written about Red Skelton than any other performer, with the possible exception of those turned out by Jackie Gleason's "in-depth" biographers.

Hal Humphrey

For some reason or other, it has become stylish to portray these two comics as modern Pagliaccis whose innermost thoughts would shock even the Russian tragedian, Dostoevski.

Red understandably shies away from these interviewers now, but that only inspires them to trap his friends and acquaintances into relating anecdotes and opinions which can be used to prove that Red is a candidate for a Freudian hall of fame.

"The Saturday Evening Post once offered to pay me $80,000 for my life story," Red says. "I said, 'No, I don't want it.' The next time I hear from them, it's $45,000. 'Wait a minute,' I said. 'What happened to the $80,000?' "

RED THOUGHT the whole thing funny until early this year when the Post sent one of its high-powered writers out to interview him. The writer was so high-powered he was wired for sound and claimed later that his conversation with Red was all on tape. Red never did grant the interview. His meeting with the writer was to explain why he didn't want to be written up in the Post.

The article was in the Post last month but was mostly a rehash of foibles and eccentricities already attributed to Red in the millions of words written about the versatile comic during his past 11 years of weekly television shows.

When not on stage for his current engagement at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, Red spends most of his time in the spacious "Presidential Suite" where he is teaching Jack Entratter (hotel managing director) and Al Freeman (hotel publicity director) how to paint in oil.

After a painting session, Red dips into what he calls his private swimming pool — a kid's $5 plastic boat which he fills with water from the hose in his private patio.

ONE FAMILY (man, wife and son) canceled their side trip to Hoover Dam and camped in front of the hotel dining room until Red finished his breakfast so they could catch him for a photograph. After he obliged, the wife cried out, "Oh, Red, wait till the folks back in Ohio see this — you're better than Hoover Dam!"

There is no doubt that Red is in an almost constant battle with certain fears, frustrations and a strong desire to be liked, but this doesn't distinguish him from any number of accountants, clerks or bottle washers who suffer the same emotional disturbance. With Red, of course, these things are news — or were until every national magazine in the country analyzed his Fruedian slips at least twice.

The biggest problem he faces now is getting ready for his 12th year on TV. CBS has expanded his show to an hour for next fall. Red insists the hour will be a breeze, because his half - hour shows nearly always had to be edited down from an hour of preview before the studio audience.

"It won't require any more material. You should see the stuff we've had to cut out of the half-hour," Red says.

-:-

WAS THAT the reason for Red's show being expanded next season?

"You're kidding," says Red. "You know why. CBS had two more sponsors that wanted in. They don't turn down sponsors."

What does Red get out of it? More money, naturally, and undoubtedly some other fringe benefits. He recently sold his studio (the old Charlie Chaplin Studio) to CBS, and the price must have been right, or Red would have to be punchier than his Cauliflower McPugg character, which he isn't.

For a comedian whom the magazine writers generally portray as a neurotic mass of frailty, Red has shown amazing recuperative powers. He still remains the only funnyman to do a weekly show on TV for 11 straight years.

U.S. Airman Struck By Communist Bullet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) An American crewman was struck by a Communist bullet Tuesday night while his U.S. Air Force C123 was flying at about 3,000 feet on a night training exercise for South Vietnamese personnel.

U.S. authorities said the airman, whose name was withheld, was not seriously injured.

The shot, apparently fired from the ground, was the only one to hit the plane.

Man Charged With Entry In Bank Holdup

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A man who police said admitted taking part in a holdup of the National Bank of Toledo's East Side branch was held today on a charge of malicious entry of a financial institution.

He was arrested late Tuesday, four hours after three men robbed the bank of $12,264 and escaped in a car driven by a fourth member of the gang.

Detective Marion Davey identified him as Robert R. Mooneyham, 25, of Toledo, and said $1,890 was found in the car in which Mooneyham was arrested.

Davey said Mooneyham admitted taking part in the robbery and gave police the names of his accomplices but refused to name the third man.

Davey said Mooneyham was paroled Feb. 8 from Mansfield Reformatory, where he had served time for grand larceny involving the theft of tires from a service station.

One of the robbers was masked and carried a shotgun and another had a pistol. The third carried a large cloth bag, but did not display a gun.

The car in which the robbers fled was found shortly after the robbery in Navarre Park, less than a mile from the bank. It had been stolen from a downtown parking lot two hours earlier, police said.

Singer, who has been in the ministry 30 years, was president of the trucking firm, YELP Service, Inc., with general offices in East Liverpool and terminals at Pittsburgh and Youngstown. As his ministry began to expand, he sold his stock in the business in order to devote his effort entirely to ministerial activity.

Vatican Invites Non-Catholics To Oct. 11 Council

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has sent out invitations to non-Catholic churches and church federations to send observers to its Ecumenical Council starting here Oct. 11.

Protestant observers never before have been invited to a worldwide gathering of the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

A Vatican spokesman declined today to say how many observers are being asked to attend or what churches had been invited.

In Geneva Tuesday night, the World Council of Churches, the Lutheran World Federation and the World Presbyterian Alliance announced receipt of invitations. They were asked to submit names of the observers by the end of June — "one or two" from the World Council, "two or three" from the Presbyterian Alliance.

Qualification Exams Slated For Air Force

T.Sgt. James A. Lee, area Air Force recruiter, said today the Airman Qualification Examination will be given to all interested men and women at the City Hall Thursday at 9:30 a. m.

The aptitude tests are given to predict the probability of success in the administrative, general, mechanical and electronics career fields and are used to guide men and women into the field for which they are best qualified, he said.

Taking the aptitude test does not carry any obligation, but those with passing scores will be tentatively qualified for enlistment in the Air Force in the career field of their choice, he said.

Interested men or women may call FU. 6-6181, visit Sgt. Lee at his office in City Hall or report to City Hall for testing.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Red Will Outlast Amateur Analysts

More sentimental psychoanalysis articles have been written about Red Skelton than any other performer, with the possible exception of those turned out by Jackie Gleason's "in-depth" biographers.

Hal Humphrey

For some reason or other, it has become stylish to portray these two comics as modern Pagliaccis whose innermost thoughts would shock even the Russian tragedian, Dostoevski.

Red understandably shies away from these interviewers now, but that only inspires them to trap his friends and acquaintances into relating anecdotes and opinions which can be used to prove that Red is a candidate for a Freudian hall of fame.

"The Saturday Evening Post once offered to pay me $80,000 for my life story," Red says. "I said, 'No, I don't want it.' The next time I hear from them, it's $45,000. 'Wait a minute,' I said. 'What happened to the $80,000?' "

RED THOUGHT the whole thing funny until early this year when the Post sent one of its high-powered writers out to interview him. The writer was so high-powered he was wired for sound and claimed later that his conversation with Red was all on tape. Red never did grant the interview. His meeting with the writer was to explain why he didn't want to be written up in the Post.

The article was in the Post last month but was mostly a rehash of foibles and eccentricities already attributed to Red in the millions of words written about the versatile comic during his past 11 years of weekly television shows.

When not on stage for his current engagement at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, Red spends most of his time in the spacious "Presidential Suite" where he is teaching Jack Entratter (hotel managing director) and Al Freeman (hotel publicity director) how to paint in oil.

After a painting session, Red dips into what he calls his private swimming pool — a kid's $5 plastic boat which he fills with water from the hose in his private patio.

Red can't avail himself of the hotel's posh guest pool without being swarmed over by fans who want his autograph and a friendly chat.

ONE FAMILY (man, wife and son) canceled their side trip to Hoover Dam and camped in front of the hotel dining room until Red finished his breakfast so they could catch him for a photograph. After he obliged, the wife cried out, "Oh, Red, wait till the folks back in Ohio see this — you're better than Hoover Dam!"

There is no doubt that Red is in an almost constant battle with certain fears, frustrations and a strong desire to be liked, but this doesn't distinguish him from any number of accountants, clerks or bottle washers who suffer the same emotional disturbance. With Red, of course, these things are news — or were until every national magazine in the country analyzed his Fruedian slips at least twice.

The biggest problem he faces now is getting ready for his 12th year on TV. CBS has expanded his show to an hour for next fall. Red insists the hour will be a breeze, because his half - hour shows nearly always had to be edited down from an hour of preview before the studio audience.

"It won't require any more material. You should see the stuff we've had to cut out of the half-hour," Red says.

-:-

WAS THAT the reason for Red's show being expanded next season?

"You're kidding," says Red. "You know why. CBS had two more sponsors that wanted in. They don't turn down sponsors."

What does Red get out of it? More money, naturally, and undoubtedly some other fringe benefits. He recently sold his studio (the old Charlie Chaplin Studio) to CBS, and the price must have been right, or Red would have to be punchier than his Cauliflower McPugg character, which he isn't.

For a comedian whom the magazine writers generally portray as a neurotic mass of frailly, Red has shown amazing recuperative powers. He still remains the only funnyman to do a weekly show on TV for 11 straight years.

U.S. Airman Struck By Communist Bullet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) An American crewman was struck by a Communist bullet Tuesday night while his U.S. Air Force C123 was flying at about 3,000 feet on a night training exercise for South Vietnamese personnel.

U.S. authorities said the airman, whose name was withheld, was not seriously injured.

The shot, apparently fired from the ground, was the only one to hit the plane.

Man Charged With Entry In Bank Holdup

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A man who police said admitted taking part in a holdup of the National Bank of Toledo's East Side branch was held today on a charge of malicious entry of a financial institution.

He was arrested late Tuesday, four hours after three men robbed the bank of $12,264 and escaped in a car driven by a fourth member of the gang.

Detective Marion Davey identified him as Robert R. Mooneyham, 25, of Toledo, and said $1,890 was found in the car in which Mooneyham was arrested.

Davey said Mooneyham admitted taking part in the robbery and gave police the names of his accomplices but refused to name the third man.

Davey said Mooneyham was paroled Feb. 8 from Mansfield Reformatory, where he had served time for grand larceny involving the theft of tires from a service station.

One of the robbers was masked and carried a shotgun and another had a pistol. The third carried a large cloth bag, but did not display a gun.

The car in which the robbers fled was found shortly after the robbery in Navarre Park, less than a mile from the bank. It had been stolen from a downtown parking lot two hours earlier, police said.

Earl Singer To Direct Witnesses' Assembly

Earl V. Singer, formerly of East Liverpool, has been appointed director of an assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Trenton, N.J., expected to attract 8,000 Friday through Sunday.

The convention sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn.

Singer, who has been in the ministry 30 years, was president of the trucking firm, YELP Service, Inc., with general offices in East Liverpool and terminals at Pittsburgh and Youngstown. As his ministry began to expand, he sold his stock in the business in order to devote his effort entirely to ministerial activity.

Vatican Invites Non-Catholics To Oct. 11 Council

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has sent out invitations to non-Catholic churches and church federations to send observers to its Ecumenical Council starting here Oct. 11.

Protestant observers never before have been invited to a worldwide gathering of the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

A Vatican spokesman declined today to say how many observers are being asked to attend or what churches had been invited.

In Geneva Tuesday night, the World Council of Churches, the Lutheran World Federation and the World Presbyterian Alliance announced receipt of invitations. They were asked to submit names of the observers by the end of June — "one or two" from the World Council, "two or three" from the Presbyterian Alliance.

It was announced about $300 was netted from a wrestling match sponsored in June. Another match is to be held in August with Foyn Wright in charge.

Gaydos reported football and basketball programs are being printed. Mrs. Dorothy Smith of West Point, vice president, was in charge. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Steve Barborak and Mrs. Stanley Wolski. Sixteen attended.

The next meeting will be Aug. 14.

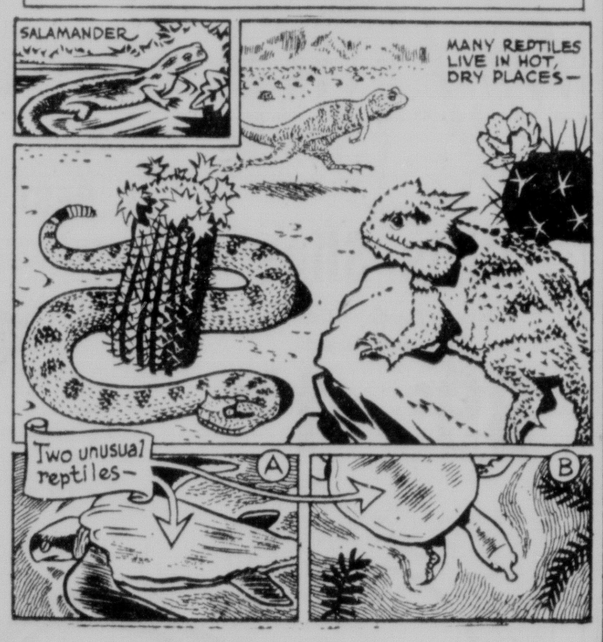
REPTILES



QUESTION: Do all reptiles have scales?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Scientists tell us that the ancestors of the reptiles were smooth-bodied amphibians whose skins had to be kept moist. A modern salamander (upper left) is such an amphibian — he cannot go far from damp surroundings or he'll dry out and die. But the skins of certain amphibians from which the reptiles came began to secrete a substance called keretin which hardened, holding the moisture inside and permitting the animal to live in dry places. So they could move around freely, most reptiles had scales or plates formed from the keratin and arranged on a flexible skin. In the case of the tortoises the keratin became a kind of shell. Many turtles have gone back to life in the water. In the case of the sea-going Leathery Turtle (A), and the Soft shelled Turtle (B), the hard plates of the turtle's shell seem to have disappeared, and been replaced by a soft, flexible substance like leather. But, with these exceptions, it is possible to say that all reptiles are covered with horny scales, plates or shells.

Youth Sought In Theft Case

A city youth remains in custody today and police continue efforts to learn the identity of a companion as five more residents notified police of missing lawn furniture and ornaments.

The Morton St. youth was taken into custody early Tuesday morning when Patrolman H. W. Bosworth found the pair asleep in the yard of the youth's home with the furniture and ornaments nearby.

During questioning, the second youth fled, the officer said.

Notifying police yesterday and identifying some of the missing property were Mrs. Albert Garner, 1013 Bradshaw Ave., a bird bath and section of picket fence; John Bowyer, 957 Huston Ave., bird bath; Mrs. Willis Campbell, 1030 Bradshaw Ave., green and white lounge chair; James H. Johnston, 1129 Vine St., green and white chaise lounge, and Edwin Greenwood, 920 Bradshaw Ave., three green and white folding chairs.

The equipment earlier had been listed as the property of William Bricker, 931 Vine St., and Mrs. R. J. Frontone, 927 Vine St.

However, police said a cast iron figurine belonged to Bricker and a patio table to Mrs. Frontone.

Acting on a tip from a Laura Ave. resident, Patrolman Bosworth reached the area and found the furniture and ornaments in the yard with the two youths asleep nearby.

The officer said police were advised about 3 a. m. yesterday by the Laura Ave. resident that "some kids" were lugging articles up Laura Ave. toward Bank St.

Unity's Ruritans Give Check For Aid To Retarded

LISBON — William E. Hiscox, president of the Columbiana County Council for Retarded Children, announced today that a total of $563 was donated to the Council to help with the school program and new workshop by the Unity Township Ruritan Club of East Palestine.

The check was presented to Hiscox by Robert Beilhart, president, and Clyde Davis, first vice president, of the group. The club makes a donation each year and has been instrumental in keeping the program operating the last few years, Hiscox said.

The club puts on a show each year to help raise money. This year, the Barbershop Quartet Society of East Liverpool put on the show, with local merchants buying advertisements.

The barbershop group refunded $30 to add to the amount, making the affair a success, he said. Hiscox, in behalf of the council, thanked the Ruritan Club and the Barbershop groups for their donations.

Youth Sought In Theft Case

A city youth remains in custody today and police continue efforts to learn the identity of a companion as five more residents notified police of missing lawn furniture and ornaments.

The Morton St. youth was taken into custody early Tuesday morning when Patrolman H. W. Bosworth found the pair asleep in the yard of the youth's home with the furniture and ornaments nearby.

During questioning, the second youth fled, the officer said.

Notifying police yesterday and identifying some of the missing property were Mrs. Albert Garner, 1013 Bradshaw Ave., a bird bath and section of picket fence; John Bowyer, 957 Huston Ave., bird bath; Mrs. Willis Campbell, 1030 Bradshaw Ave., green and white lounge chair; James H. Johnston, 1129 Vine St., green and white chaise lounge, and Edwin Greenwood, 920 Bradshaw Ave., three green and white folding chairs.

The equipment earlier had been listed as the property of William Bricker, 931 Vine St., and Mrs. R. J. Frontone, 927 Vine St.

However, police said a cast iron figurine belonged to Bricker and a patio table to Mrs. Frontone.

Acting on a tip from a Laura Ave. resident, Patrolman Bosworth reached the area and found the furniture and ornaments in the yard with the two youths asleep nearby.

The officer said police were advised about 3 a. m. yesterday by the Laura Ave. resident that "some kids" were lugging articles up Laura Ave. toward Bank St.
